

IF YOU DON'T GET
YOUR PROGRESS
LET US KNOW

CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

THE WEATHER
Fair tonight and tomorrow;
not much change in the temperature.

VOLUME XVII

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS, CLEARFIELD, PA., MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 18, 1923.

NUMBER 143

7 KILLED, 16 INJURED, IN WAVE OF RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING IN PHILADELPHIA

EXECUTIVE BOARD GET DOWN TO WORK AT HARRISBURG

Harrisburg, June 18.—The Executive Board, supreme council of the Pinchot administration under the code, got down to consistent reorganization of the state government today.

The Board went into executive session with the Governor at noon in the second session to be held, armed with data, documents, reports and charts from the various departments of the old administration to be merged in the new.

The principal task facing the Governor in his new responsibility was the reduction in personnel and standardization of salaries. A number of appointments likewise confronted him.

Governor Pinchot was inclined to view the job of equalizing all the state employees doing similar work in different departments as "a long and tedious" one and it was likely first consideration would be given to appointments and dismissals. Between 20 and 30 persons of the office force must go.

LEWIS EXPLAINS POSITION ON THE NEW STATE CODE

Harrisburg, June 18.—Auditor General Lewis today accepted the basic principles of the administrative code as an act of the legislature to be enforced in accordance with his duties as an "elective state officer." He took occasion to state that he is not "party to an attack on the constitutionality of the code."

Lewis claims that his position is no different from that "toward any other statute passed by the Legislature."

Villagers Flee As Mount Etna Again Becomes A Crater Of Liquid Fire

Rome, June 18.—The village of Lingua Glessa on the slopes of Mt. Etna is reported to have been destroyed by a torrent of lava cascading down the side of the volcano.

Inhabitants of the town evacuated their dwellings yesterday following yesterday's earthquake and subterranean rumblings after a fiery stream had wiped out the neighboring hamlet of Boncorrate.

Residents of the nearby town of Castiglione fled from their homes today staggering under the weight of such household goods as they could carry as a river of lava approached within one kilometer. The eruption of Mt. Etna with a deafening explosion caused new craters to appear on the mountain. Vast clouds of black smoke were visible for miles. Hot ashes sifted from the sky over an immense area.

FRENCH AIRMAN ASCENDS 9,000 METERS; A RECORD

Paris, June 18.—Attempting to establish a world's altitude record, Lieutenant Bury ascended today in an airplane to a height of 9,000 meters.

At that point his oxygen tank broke and the airman fainted. His plane started tumbling earthward. Bury recovered consciousness in time to gain control, straighten out and make a safe landing.

CRUDE OIL DOWN AGAIN

Pittsburgh, June 18.—Crude oil was cut another 25c per barrel today, bringing the new price to $3.00.

Other grades on the eastern market were cut accordingly. New prices are: Somerset light, $1.75; Cabell, $1.60; Somerset medium, $1.55; Ragland, 90c; morning, $1.70.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 18.—A wave of reckless automobile driving swept over Philadelphia Sunday and early today, leaving in its wake seven persons killed and sixteen injured. Two children were crushed to death in the accidents. In two of the accidents the drivers of speeding cars left their victims lying in the street, speeding away to escape arrest. The other drivers surrendered to the police.

PINCHOT PLANNING MEANS OF USING "CO-OPERATIVE AGENCIES" IN HIS WAR ON BOOTLEGGER AND MOONSHINE

By S. P. HOLLINGSWORTH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Harrisburg, June 18.—Governor Pinchot was planning today the best means of utilizing "co-operative agencies" in the enforcement of his prohibition law.

Meanwhile, the W. C. T. U., civil and religious organizations active in matters pertaining to enforcement of the 18th amendment were carrying their campaign for $250,000 to "assist the Governor" into every annuity of the commonwealth.

The question of legality of the step contemplated by Governor Pinchot in the use he makes of any private fund collected for this purpose, which was rejected by the legislature, was being watched carefully.

Attorney General Woodruff expected a request from the Governor for an opinion at which time he would disclose the legality of any step proposed for converting the money to use by the state.

"There are three elements to consider in the use made by the state of any fund such as this for the enforcement of law," said the attorney general.

"First there is the legal question involving the existence of any statute prohibiting it altogether; second, the desires of the administration, and everyone knows the Governor's sentiment on law enforcement.

"The third proposition is, what disposition do the contributors want to make of the money and what are their desires pertaining to its administration," he declared.

Woodruff indicated that a "committee for the enforcement of prohibition" might be formed, to receive contributions, authorize expenditures, and audit the accounts at the close of the campaign. This plan had been followed before, he said, where a worthy cause was at stake.

Everything hinged on the collection of the fund, but there seemed to be no doubt in administrative circles that the amount would be raised. The question of how best to use it was uppermost in the minds of those working on the problem.

In College Row

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, president of Amherst College, is the central figure in a dispute over methods of education. Students planned to strike of the senior class commencement day in protest against the reported intention of trustees to oust the president.

PREDICT HARDING CHOICE WILL WIN IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn., June 18.—A light vote was cast today in Minnesota as voters nominated Republican, Democratic and Farmer-Labor candidates for the seat of the late United States Senator, Knute Nelson. The lack of interest and light voting was interpreted as favorable to the Republican administration candidate, Judge J. A. Preus, who was endorsed by President Harding.

The Preus organization guarantee of 100,000 votes is sure to hold good his proponents assert. They do not believe the total poll will be much heavier than 200,000.

Common Law Wife Of Millionaire Booze Peddler Presses Suit

Pittsburgh, June 18.—May Burke common law wife of Martin Burke alleged bootlegger, who was killed on the eve of his departure to serve a term in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, opened her court fight here today to gain control of Burke's millions.

Burke was shot and killed outside his home by an unknown assassin. He died intestate and Burke's relative have engaged an army of legal talent to prevent the vast estate going to the woman who claims she is Burke's widow by common law marriage.

The young woman, who is unusually pretty, was the first witness and admitted she entered into this common law marriage with Burke a day after her husband, James Munz, was killed. Munz was engaged in bootlegging with Burke and was shot and killed while bootlegging in Cleveland, Ohio.

PLAN FOR THE 1924 STATE FARM FAIR AT MEETING TODAY

Harrisburg, June 18. (U. P.)—Plans for the 1924 state farm products show got under way today.

A meeting is to be held in the office of Secretary of Agriculture Frank Willis tonight when the state show committee will present its report.

The question of financing is uppermost in the minds of the promoters of the show. The need for additional floor space for the growing exhibits was also discussed.

A special committee headed by Dr. S. W. Fletcher, State College, is considering the advisability of charging an admission fee next year.

OPERATED UPON FOR APPENDICITIS

Jack, the little 7-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Paul Frantz, suffered a sudden attack of appendicitis yesterday and was taken to the Clearfield hospital where a prompt operation removed the trouble-making appendix. Jack came through smiling and wanted to get up and go home last evening, but will have to remain in the hospital for a few days yet.

Twenty Tons of Sea Monster

After this 40,000-pound sea monster was harpooned off Long Key, Fla., it put up a 12-hour fight that ended only when 50 bullets from a high-power rifle were fired into it. It is 35 feet long, 23 feet in girth, with a tail span of 12 feet. Naturalists say it belongs to a rare family called the "Indo-Pacific basking shark," part whale and part shark. An idea of its gigantic size may be had from this view of its mouth, only partly open.

CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA OPERATORS PRESENT THEIR CASE TO THE U. S. COAL COMMISSION AT CAPITAL TODAY

Today the Operators Associations of the Central Pennsylvania district filed a 100 page brief with the United States Coal Commission. The brief is signed by Messrs. B. M. Clary, Harry Boulton, A. M. Liveright, Charles O'Neill and W. A. Jones, a committee of operators and attorneys acting for the Associations.

The Central Pennsylvania district employs about 60,000 miners and produces annually 40 to 60 millions of tons of coal. The district is largely unionized.

The brief deals with a large number of subjects now under investigation by the Coal Commission. It sets forth that since April 1st, 1916, two general and 664 local strikes have taken place in this district in violation of contract on the part of the United Mine Workers of America. To eliminate these strikes in the coal industry, the operators recommend:

- (a) Abolition of the check-off;
- (b) Re-establishment of real collective bargaining upon the basis of district or sectional wage agreement;
- (c) Collective and individual legal responsibility upon the members of the United Mine Workers of America for carrying out their contracts;
- (d) Placing wage rates in the mining industry upon a parity with other industries employing the same classes of labor;
- (e) The absolute right to introduce labor saving devices and machinery with interference by the Union;
- (f) The inclusion of arbitration clauses in all wage agreements similar to those contained in the Central Pennsylvania district agreement.

Facts are set forth to prove that collective bargaining has been destroyed by the United Mine Workers of America through their frequent violations of agreement, and to bring about a proper re-establishment of joint relations in the mining industry, the Union and its members must be made legally responsible for carrying out and enforcing wage agreements.

On the matter of overdevelopment, the operators of Central Pennsylvania disagree with the commonly accepted statement that there are 200,000 too many men in the industry. To meet the requirements of the country for coal as demanded, there is not more than 8 to 11 per cent excess development. Likewise, there are only 50, last evening, but will have to remain in the hospital for a few days yet.

industry. The operators state that this development is the result of the great development of mines in the non-union coal fields of West Virginia which synchronizes perfectly with the increase of power of the United Mine Workers of America in the older fields during the past twenty years. The ever increasing capacity of the non-union coal fields in the United States will continue so long as these fields maintain a high earning power for the miner. The operators promise to be for some years to come. Through the free play of competitive forces, and once the United Mine Workers of America have been made legally responsible for their contracts, the question will adjust itself.

The operators also ask for the abolition of assigned cars. They state that the assignment of open top cars for railroad fuel loaded by carriers and private cars for owners' loading is unjust, inequitable and discriminatory. Also that the abolition of this form of special privilege will do more to stabilize the bituminous mining in-

BACK BROKEN IN PLUNGE OVER STEEP EMBANKMENT ON BARRETT HILL, ROBT. SMILEY OF OSCEOLA IS BADLY HURT

W. G. Plummer Dies Of Injuries Received In Fri. Eve. Car Wreck

W. G. Plummer, of Kelleytown, who was so seriously injured in the automobile wreck which occurred near that town Friday night last, passed away at the Clearfield hospital Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock as a result of those injuries. Mr. Plummer had his neck broken and also received other serious injuries in the smashup. The deceased was employed as electrician by the Maple Run Coal Company. He was about 45 years of age and leaves a widow and five children to mourn the loss of a loving and devoted husband and father. The children are Catherine, who graduated from Clearfield High School last week, Grace, George, William and Fred.

The remains will be taken to Pittsburgh tomorrow and cremated as per request of the deceased when he learned his injuries were fatal.

Forsyth's Injuries May Be Serious; Cause Of The Accident Explained

T. D. Forsyth, who was one of the victims of the accident at Kelleytown Friday night last when his car left the road and tumbled down over a ten-foot embankment, is doing as well as could be expected at the Clearfield hospital, where he has been a patient since Saturday morning. Mr. Forsyth has several broken ribs, his back is badly bruised and wrenched, while he also has severe pains in the abdomen, which his physicians fear may mean internal injuries.

At the time of the accident Mr. Forsyth was hurrying back to Kelleytown from an automobile drive in order to meet one of the Maple Run miners to pay him, he having been unable to be on hand at the regular pay time and had arranged to meet Mr. Forsyth at 9 o'clock. He was driving pretty rapidly and at the place of accident passed a car coming from Kelleytown. The lights of the car sort of dazzled the occupants of the Forsyth car and as their vision cleared they saw a rig approaching without lights. Mr. Forsyth turned out quickly to get by this rig when Mr. Plummer, thinking a collision likely, grabbed the steering wheel and diverted the car into the bank. The front wheel of the automobile struck a large rock at the side of the road and catapulted over it, turning over three times in its flight. It landed a mass of broken and twisted wreckage at the foot of the bank.

In addition to numerous cuts and bruises Mr. Smiley suffered serious injury to his back. X-Ray pictures taken at the hospital showing the seventh and eighth dorsal vertebrae to be fractured and his condition is serious.

FUNERAL OF LEWIS LEIGEY

The funeral of the late Lewis Leigey, Civil war veteran, who died at the home of his son Jesse, at Hyde or Frenchville Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Locust Alighting on His Arm Caused Twisting of Wheel, Sending Car Down 70 Foot Drop.

FOUR IN THE CAR

Sunday morning about 10 o'clock an automobile driven by Robert Smiley of New Liberty, near Osceola in which were Mrs. Smiley, their daughter and another young woman left the road at the turn on Barrett hill and knocking down two the guard posts along the road plunged down over the bank a distance of sixty or seventy feet to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at the foot of the hill.

The Smileys were bringing their daughter to Clearfield for the purpose of having her catch the B. R. & P. train leaving here at 11:48 on her way to Indiana Normal School where she expected to take a summer course. While coming down the hill one of the 17 year locusts so plentiful in that section alighted on Mr. Smiley's left arm. Thinking the insect might bite or sting him he let go the wheel with his right hand and while attempting to brush the locust away the car was diverted from the road and striking and breaching off two of the guard posts, thru which the wire had not yet been strung, and continued down over the steep bank until it finally brought up a tangled mass of wreckage on the railroad track seventy feet below.

Through one of those fortunate circumstances which sometimes attend such an accident the three women luckily escaped with minor cuts and bruises, but Mr. Smiley sustained very serious injuries.

When the car finally landed the women got clear of the wreckage and the two younger ones climbing the bank got back on the road and attracting the attention of passing motorists soon got assistance. Mr. Smiley was taken from the wreck unconscious and conveyed to the Clearfield Hospital in the ambulance of that institution, which had been hastily summoned to the scene.

In addition to numerous cuts and bruises Mr. Smiley suffered serious injury to his back. X-Ray pictures taken at the hospital showing the seventh and eighth dorsal vertebrae to be fractured and his condition is serious.

Clearfield Knights Of Malta Have Enjoyable Visit To Fairview Park

Clearfield Knights of Malta, wives, friends and sweethearts to the number of almost a hundred, were participants in a big Malta event at Fairview Park near Philipsburg last Thursday evening. The occasion was a sort of district convention and

(Continued on Page Two)

Do These Triplets Look Alike?

James, Lowry and William Guffey, of McKeesport, Pa., are triplets even if they don't look it. They have gone through school together, have been graduated together and hope to go through the University of Pittsburgh law school together.

(Continued On Page Two)

POWERS RESUME FIGHT TO CONTROL MEDITERRANEAN SEA

Old Apple of Discord Again Being Kicked Around by Continental Rivals—France Enters the Lists

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

New York, June 16. (United Press)—The Mediterranean Sea, scene of European rivalry for many hundred years, is again looming as a cause of discord among Great Britain, France, Italy and Spain.

Until the German menace in the North Sea distracted attention from the Mediterranean, before the World War, the powers of Europe regarded the waterway between themselves and their North African possessions as their center of naval operation. Now that Germany has been made impotent for at least a generation, the Mediterranean is resuming its old importance as a disturber of diplomatic cordials.

From one end of the Mediterranean to the other, Spain, France, Italy and Great Britain hold African possessions which give them all an interest in the Mediterranean. Italy and France, themselves fronting the European shore of the Mediterranean, consider their claims paramount. But Great Britain holds Gibraltar, which commands the entrance to the sea, and Spain's control of Ceuta, in Africa, directly opposite Gibraltar, gives the Spaniards an influence out of proportion to Spain's real military strength.

Claims of Italy
Italy claims the moral right to be regarded as the Mistress of the Mediterranean, because all of the Italian coastline borders that water, or one of its arms. No other nation is in a like position. Italy's whole naval strength is permanently stationed in the Mediterranean, by reason of Italy's geographical position. This increases the power of the Italian claim. If Italy were wealthy enough her controlling position couldn't be doubted.

But France and Great Britain have the more secure financial hold. Therefore, they count more in the Mediterranean than the actual number of their battleships in that water. The real conflict now proceeding under the surface for domination of the Mediterranean is between France and Great Britain. The French have started the contest by developing a new intimacy with the Sultan of Morocco. France and Spain both have Moroccan spheres of influence. As long as Spain has the greater influence at the Sultan's court, Great Britain is not disturbed. Spain's capacity for any kind of offensive action is strictly limited.

The British Disturbed
But France's growing strength in Morocco is more disturbing to the British. There is always the possibility, Great Britain thinks, that if the French become masters in Moroccan territory they will proceed to challenge Gibraltar's sole guardianship of the Straits, and will themselves erect a counter-Gibraltar on the African side. The French authorities say this disclosure is needless, because Gibraltar would be at the mercy of an aeroplane attack if ever the need arose. That argument, however, is of doubtful force.

The British government will not consent to any change in the present demilitarized status of the African border of the Straits of Gibraltar. France is unwilling to challenge Great Britain on this point for the moment. But, with the successive defeats of Spain in her warfare against the tribesmen in Spanish Morocco, France's prestige is constantly increasing in that neighborhood.

It now appears to be only a question of time when France will be paramount in Morocco. That being so, France will gain increasing prestige throughout the Mediterranean. Then will come negotiations for an Anglo-Italian understanding as a counter-move, to keep the ball rolling.

Clearfield Knights of Malta

(Continued From Page One)

Knights were present from the following commandaries:

Phillipsburg No. 88, Osceola Mills, No. 84, Houtzdale No. 90, Clearfield No. 472, from this district, and the following visitors: William P. Kuhn, P. C., of Mt. Olivet, Williamsport and Grand Generalissimo of the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania; Nelson A. Perkins, Deputy G. G. of No. 563, of Watsonstown; Past Commanders W. Earl Delaney and A. Norris, Greenfield of No. 17, Mt. Olivet, and Harry C. Sweely, assistant recorder of No. 17.

Sir Knight Earl L. Hobbs, of No. 84, called the assembly to order and music was rendered by an orchestra under the leadership of Joseph Griest, followed by prayer by Sir Knight Rev. Herbert Glasen.

Grand Generalissimo Kuhn was introduced and bringing the greetings of the Grand Commandery launched into an earnest plea that the commandaries of this district should arouse themselves and uphold the old-time heritage which have been ours since the seventh century, and vie with one another that their commandaries should stand forth as the foremost of the Christian faith.

Mrs. Marietta Griest and Vernon Perkins delighted everyone with a duet which ended just as the interest of the audience was at its height.

After another collection by the orchestra, a playlet entitled "Knights of the Round Table of Round" was given by the members of the Osceola Commandery, and it brought down the curtain. It was a satire upon the initiation of a new member and the different parts were well played and furnished amusement for about 40 minutes.

The announcement was then made that every one was to remain seated and refreshments would be served, and how the sandwiches and coffee, ice cream and cake did disappear was a caution. The treat was provided by the members of No. 84.

At a very late hour the Knights separated to go to their homes, feeling that it was one of the best gatherings they had ever held. The next meeting will be held at Phillipsburg on the second Thursday in July.

and all did ample justice to a wonderful picnic dinner.

After dinner a short business meeting was held at which were given the yearly reports of all standing committees. These reports gave an idea of the varied activities and the scope of the work carried on by the Woman's Club and were exceedingly interesting.

The meeting adjourned with a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Leitzinger for her kind hospitality.

"The Hottentot" is well worth traveling miles to see. You only have to go to the Driggs Theatre Wednesday or Thursday.

Cent. Penna. Operators Present Their Case

Continued from Page One

dusty than any other single proposition that the Commission can recommend.

The brief also deals with the history of the district, wage rates, storage of coal, housing and cost of living, open shop mines, intermittency, absenteeism, competition and recommends the industry be granted the right to properly disseminate information concerning prices, production, etc., so that the public may be correctly informed as to the situation at all times.

The association of Central Pennsylvania have co-operated to the fullest extent with the Commission and are willing and desirous of furnishing witnesses in support of the testimony contained in the brief at a public hearing. They state it to be the belief of the operators that a public hearing should be held to consider particularly the question of relations between coal operators, the United Mine Workers of America and the public.

The brief concludes with the statement that "our knowledge and experience of the bituminous mining industry and the result of investigation, as set forth in this brief, lead us to the conclusion that with the recommendations contained herein carried into effect the operation of economic law will adjust all of the evils supposed to exist in the bituminous coal mining industry within a reasonable time."

Try a Progress Want Ad.

Limbers 'Em Up JOINT-EASE

It's for joint troubles in ankles, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, knuckles or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers them up, reduces the swelling, chases out the pain and inflammation. No time wasted—when Joint-Ease goes in joint, it goes out.

But lately thousands of people have discovered that it's also supremely good for quick relief in lumbago, neuralgia and neuritis. Joint-Ease is a stainless emollient that soaks in almost instantly—A tube 60 cents.

THE JUNE BRIDE AND HER GIFTS

It's an important step in the life of any woman when she becomes a June bride. She dates the rest of her life from that happy day. And it behooves her friends to make her gifts that she will cherish for the rest of her life.

We have just such gifts, whether it is some small item for personal use or some larger gift that she can share with others.

We want you to come in and see these gifts and see how little it will cost to make just the gift you'd like to make.

W. W. O'BRIEN

MENIHAN'S ARCH-AID SHOES

The Fit that Lasts

ANY shoe that must be painfully "broken in" is a shoe that does not fit you. . . . Either the shoe or your foot must adapt itself—with disaster to one or the other.

Menihan's Arch-Aid shoes are famous for fitting feet comfortably, with no loss of style and grace. They gently support the arch, they do not slip at the heel and they retain their shape through a long season of wear.

This smart Oxford is but one of a number of metropolitan styles, in a wide range of sizes and widths.

LYTLE BROS.

—STORES AT—
LEWISTOWN, PA. CLEARFIELD, PA.

FEMINE KNICKERS NO SHOCK AT STATE COLLEGE THESE DAYS

State College, Pa., June 18.—Men's haberdashery shops in State College are preparing for a feminine trade this summer. Ten months of the year they cater to men students of the regular Pennsylvania State College session, but during the summer there are five or six women school teachers to one man at the college, and the three leading shops are forced to change their wares to meet demands.

This town is now unconscious to shock by seeing a pair of feminine knickers promenading the streets, campus, golf course or nearby mountain trails. The co-eds and former summer girl students have braved the storm and knickers are so common that one has to give close inspection to distinguish the female of the species. Three-fourths of the men students wear 'em for their comfort all the time. When the summer session opens on June 25, haberdashers will be prepared for the feminine rush for colorful sports sweaters, knickers, men's shirts, belts, bathing suits and golf hose. Shoe dealers have also laid in a good supply of low-heeled sports shoes.

WOMAN'S CLUB PICNIC

On Friday, June 15th, the Clearfield Woman's Club held its annual picnic on the beautiful lawn of Mrs. A. E. Leitzinger's bungalow.

There were 61 members present.

KEYSTONE

BEST BY TEST

ICE CREAM

KEYSTONE ICE CREAM

MAKES A DESSERT THAT IS HARD TO BEAT AND THAT IS LIKED BY YOUNG AND OLD.

CLEARFIELD, PA.

GIFTS for JUNE BRIDES

Come in and see the gifts that we have here for the June bride. First comes the various showers and we have a variety of gifts for these that will be just what you are looking for.

For the great event we have a wonderful array of gifts that any bride will appreciate. To name all the gifts we have would take a page of this paper but if you will take a few minutes and shop through the store, you will be sure to find just what you are looking for.

McCarty's

are making Quality Ice Creams, sacrificing profits for quality.

We may not be the largest in size, but then you do not always get the best dinners at the largest houses.

Our sherbets are made direct from real fruit. Lemons and oranges are bought by the box. Strawberry in 5 case lots. Pay some for yourself.

McCarty's

"The House of Quality"

BRINGING UP FATHER

By McManus

CLASSIFIED ADS
FOR EVERYBODYOne Cent Per Word For Each Insertion.
Minimum Charge Twenty-five Cents.

WANTED

If you would learn, the simplest way,
To buy a car—without delay,
Just read my bargains every day—CLASSIFIED
The Want Ad "Page"WANTED—Men for street paving work. Good wages. Apply at Borough Bldg. 6/12/23WANTED—I want to buy a 5, 6 or 7-room house with all conveniences at a reasonable price. Must have possession soon. Address by letter F. B.
Progress. 6/12/23WANTED—Experienced girl for housework and cooking. Must go home nights. No laundry work. Call
H. & C. 197B2. 6/16/23WANTED—Girls at the Clearfield
Laundry. 6/29/23WANTED—Woman to work in restaurant. Apply West Side Restaurant. 6/11/23WANTED—Young man desires place to board with private family.
Address Board, care of Progress. 6/11/23WANTED—Woman to do plain sewing and mending. Call at once.
Mrs. J. C. Forsyth, Turnpike avenue.
6/14/23WANTED—Girl for general house work. 215 W. Pine street. 6/16/23WANTED—Salesman with car to sell oil and paint. Full or part time.
Liberal commissions. Give references and experience. Farmers Oil and Paint Co., 750 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, O. 6/18/23WANTED—Two young ladies to travel. Salary and expenses paid.
Age 18-23. Apply Miss Burdick,
Jordan Hotel, from 4 to 8 p. m.
6/18/23WANTED—Three young men to travel in car. Age 21 to 23. Apply
Mr. Rand, Dimeling Hotel, 7 to 9 p.
m. 6/18/23WANTED—Girl for general house work. Inquire Mrs. Dr. F. S. Nevling, Nevling Bldg., Third street. 6/16/23WANTED—Position as Ford truck driver. Prefer a job with a contractor. Inquire Progress. 6/15/23

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Howard player piano.
Price $350. Apply Wrigley Addition, on Hillsdale Road. 6/18/23FOR SALE—Horse, weighs about 1200. Also wagon and harness. Inquire Mrs. Elsie Shaw, West Front street. 6/18/23FOR SALE—Late cabbage, cauliflower and scarlet sage. J. M. Mc Dowell, 319 Park avenue. 6/18/23FOR SALE—Complete equipment for 50-barrel buckshot mill. Alice Pugh Sifer, system. 25 h. p. gas engine. In good condition. D. H.
Baker, Kitting, Pa. 6/18/23FOR SALE—50-acre farm located 1 1/2 miles from Woodland. Underlaid with minerals. Has a six room house, good fruit trees, spring water and good cleared land. Can be bought with all the stock. Better known as the Potter Wisor place in Eggs township. Can have possession at any time. Nancy Goodall, Spring Valley, Borgs Township. 6/18/23Wow! It's Been A Hot One!And Our Drinks
Have CooledThousands of Throats
Thousands of folks have been here today and gotten that thirst slaked. We have the cooling drinks to do it and the cooler sundaries will touch a spot that nothing else will.VIRGINIA
CHOCOLATE SHOP

LEGAL

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of
Clearfield County, Pa.
Ira Clifton Stormer
vs.
Sarah Anne StormerNo. 5 Sept. Term 1923.
To Sarah Anne Stormer, Respondent.Whereas, Ira Clifton Stormer your husband has filed a libel in the Court
of Common Pleas of Clearfield County
praying for a divorce from you to
which a return of "not in the County"
was made by the Sheriff and an alias
writ issued, to which a like return
was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before
Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923
next, to answer the complaint of the said Ira Clifton Stormer, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

In the matter of the Estate of Tillie
Honke, late of the Township of Morris,
Clearfield County, Pennsylvania, deceased.Letters of Administration having been granted to the undersigned in the above estate, all persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the said estate are requested to make payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to LEWIS HONKE, Administrator,
Phillipsburg, Pa.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

SHERIFF'S NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pennsylvania.
September Term, 1923.In the matter of satisfaction of mortgage recorded in Mortgage Book
"B," page 120.To the Legal representatives of James T. Leonard, deceased, or whoever may be the holder or holders of the mortgage hereinbefore mentioned:
Take notice that on the 14th day of May, 1923, G. M. Passmore presented his petition averring that he is the owner of the premises described in said mortgage;That the said mortgage remains unsatisfied upon said premises being a mortgage given by George Passmore to David Whitmer, dated the 30th day of May, 1906, recorded in Mortgage Book "B," page 120; said mortgage having been assigned to James T. Leonard on the 20th day of July, 1865, said assignment recorded in Mortgage Book "B," page 129; that it is averred that said mortgage has been fully paid; that petition was presented to the Court praying for satisfaction of said mortgage.Notice is hereby given that the Sheriff of Clearfield County was directed to give public notice to all the legal representatives of the said
James T. Leonard, deceased, by advertisement in the Clearfield Progress requiring them to appear in the Court
of Common Pleas of Clearfield County
on the first Monday of September, 1923, being the 3rd day of September, 1923, and answer the facts set forth in said petition.THOS. J. LOWELL, Sheriff.

6/11/18/25 7/2/23

SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SERVICE
OF RULE OF EJECTMENTIn the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pa.
No. 105 Sept. Term, 1923.In the matter of the Petition of Helen Umerly for a rule on Morris Shannahan and William Shannahan their heirs or assigns or other parties in interest, to bring ejectment within six months.Order and Decree. The foregoing petition having been read and considered and presented in Open Court, and after investigations of the same having been taken thereon and due proof of the allegations set forth in the petition having been made to the satisfaction of the Court, a rule is granted upon the said Morris Shan-nahan and William Shannahan, their heirs or assigns, and all other parties in interest therein and having an apparent interest in or the title of the real estate mentioned in the said petition, but not having been in possession thereof for a period of twenty-one years preceding the date of this application to bring his, her or their action in ejectment within six months from the date of the service of the said rule upon him, her or them or show cause why the same cannot be brought. It is further ordered and decreed that service of said rule be made upon the parties claiming or having apparent interest in or title to the said real estate by the Sheriff of Clearfield County in the Raftsmans Journal and the Clearfield Progress, two newspapers of general circulation printed and published in the County of Clearfield, once a week for six consecutive weeks in accordance with the act of Assembly in such case made and provided. Said rule to be returnable the first Monday of August, 1923.

By the Court, Singleton Bell, P. J.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

Too Busy.

"Some people's 'too busy' ain't got no time 't' enjoy him' happen," said Charles E. Ely, enthusiastically, "I'm keepin' myself busy bustin' around what ain't none of my business."—Richmond Times Dispatch

Bedroom Wall Protection.

While visiting a friend I discovered her way of preventing the beds from scratching the walls when moving them. Tacked to the baseboard at the head of each bed was a strip of picture molding a trifle longer than the width of the bed and painted to correspond to the woodwork. The casters rolled along the molding, and there was no danger of injury to the wallpaper.—
Washington Post.

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of
Clearfield County, Pa.
H. D. Haines
vs.
Emma HainesNo. 7 Sept. Term 1923.
To Emma Haines, Respondent.Whereas, H. D. Haines your husband has filed a libel in the Court
of Common Pleas of Clearfield County
praying for a divorce from you to
which a return of "not in the County"
was made by the Sheriff and an alias
writ issued, to which a like return
was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before
Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923
next, to answer the complaint of the said H. D. Haines, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in
your absence.THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of
Clearfield County, Pa.
Freda M. Bucher
vs.
James M. BucherNo. 6 Sept. Term 1923.
To James M. Bucher, respondent.Whereas, Clara May Anderson your wife has filed a libel in the Court
of Common Pleas of Clearfield County
praying for a divorce from you to
which a return of "not in the County"
was made by the Sheriff and an alias
writ issued, to which a like return
was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before
Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923
next, to answer the complaint of the said Freda M. Bucher, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in
your absence.THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of
Clearfield County, Pa.
W. M. Smith
vs.
Mary SmithNo. 59 Sept. Term 1923.
To Mary Smith, Respondent.Whereas, W. M. Smith, your husband has filed a libel in the Court
of Common Pleas of Clearfield County
praying for a divorce from you to
which a return of "not in the County"
was made by the Sheriff and an alias
writ issued, to which a like return
was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before
Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923
next, to answer the complaint of the said W. M. Smith, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in
your absence.THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of
Clearfield County, Pa.
Mary Zimmerman
vs.
Edward E. ZimmermanNo. 87 Sept. Term 1923.
To Edward E. Zimmerman, Respondent.Whereas, Mary Zimmerman, your wife has filed a libel in the Court
of Common Pleas of Clearfield County
praying for a divorce from you to
which a return of "not in the County"
was made by the Sheriff and an alias
writ issued, to which a like return
was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before
Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923
next, to answer the complaint of the said Mary Zimmerman, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in
your absence.THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of
Clearfield County, Pa.
Clara May Anderson
vs.
Carl Elmer AndersonNo. 44 Sept. Term 1923.
To Carl Elmer Anderson, Respondent.Whereas, Freda M. Bucher your wife has filed a libel in the Court
of Common Pleas of Clearfield County
praying for a divorce from you to
which a return of "not in the County"
was made by the Sheriff and an alias
writ issued, to which a like return
was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before
Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923
next, to answer the complaint of the said Clara May Anderson, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in
your absence.THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING
OF STOCKHOLDERSTo the Stockholders of Superior Ice Cream Corporation.You are hereby notified that pursuant to the provisions of the charter of this corporation, a special meeting of the Board of Directors, a special meeting of the stockholders of Superior Ice Cream Corporation will be held on the seventh day of July, 1923, at the principal office of the company at Osceola Mills, Pennsylvania, at two o'clock p. m. The object of said meeting is to act upon a resolution of the Board of Directors duly adopted on the fourth days of May, 1923, for the increase of the preferred capital stock of the corporation from Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars to Seventy-Five Thousand Dollars, and to receive the approval or disapproval of the stockholders.O. E. HILLER, Secretary.

5/7/14 21/23 6/4/11/18/25/23

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Sometimes the evil men do lives after them while at other times a fellow is given to see the error of his way and repents in time to make amends for his shortcomings. Manager Peek of the local Bell Telephone Company ran across one of the latter kind of fellows, who lives in a nearby Clearfield county town. When Manager Peek got his mail at noon today he found the following letter the address and name of the writer being deleted:—

June 15, 1923

Dear Sir:—

As I am living a Christian life, remember when I was a young man I took a piece of wire between the posts along the road, which was broken off and a few glass I broke.Some people will cover up their sins, but by the help of God I expect to make my wrongs right.It was worth about seventy-five cents and I enclose money order for same. Want you to forgive me.

Yours truly,

Peek promptly credited the seventy-five cents to the "conscience fund" of the local office after marking it Contribution No. 1 and wrote the conscience-stricken one that he was entirely forgiven.Depredations of beaver in the Adirondacks region of New York have made necessary a law providing that the Conservation Commission be authorized to regulate the taking of beaver, in traps only, between March 1 and March 31. At one time the beaver was extinct in New York. A few were introduced and the these forest rodents have multiplied so rapidly and have cut down so many trees and flooded so much territory that they have rendered valueless many large tracts of forest and farm land.Guess government operation of railroads wasn't such a bad thing for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company as Gen. Atterbury and a lot of other fellows would have us believe some time ago, judging from the following item which appeared in all the leading newspapers on Saturday last under a Washington date line:—

"An agreement to pay into the fed-

Total Amount Deposited.... $1,200.00

With interest at:

3%

4%

5%

6%

7%

After 10 years

After 20 years

After 30 years

After 40 years

After 50 years

After 60 years

After 70 years

After 80 years

After 90 years

After 100 years

After 110 years

After 120 years

After 130 years

After 140 years

After 150 years

After 160 years

After 170 years

After 180 years

After 190 years

After 200 years

After 210 years

After 220 years

After 230 years

After 240 years

After 250 years

After 260 years

After 270 years

After 280 years

After 290 years

After 300 years

After 310 years

After 320 years

After 330 years

After 340 years

After 350 years

After 360 years

After 370 years

After 380 years

After 390 years

After 400 years

After 410 years

After 420 years

After 430 years

After 440 years

After 450 years

After 460 years

After 470 years

After 480 years

After 490 years

After 500 years

After 510 years

After 520 years

After 530 years

After 540 years

After 550 years

After 560 years

After 570 years

After 580 years

After 590 years

After 600 years

After 610 years

After 620 years

After 630 years

After 640 years

After 650 years

After 660 years

After 670 years

After 680 years

After 690 years

After 700 years

After 710 years

After 720 years

After 730 years

After 740 years

After 750 years

After 760 years

After 770 years

After 780 years

After 790 years

After 800 years

After 810 years

After 820 years

After 830 years

After 840 years

After 850 years

After 860 years

After 870 years

After 880 years

After 890 years

After 900 years

After 910 years

After 920 years

After 930 years

After 940 years

After 950 years

After 960 years

After 970 years

After 980 years

After 990 years

After 1000 years

After 1010 years

After 1020 years

After 1030 years

After 1040 years

After 1050 years

After 1060 years

After 1070 years

After 1080 years

After 1090 years

After 1100 years

After 1110 years

After 1120 years

After 113

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

Published every day except Sunday by the Progressive Publishing Company, Progress Building, Clearfield, Pennsylvania.

G. ALBERT STEWART, Managing Editor.
J. D. CONNELLY, City Editor. R. S. NIGHTINGALE, Adv. Mgr.
A. M. BRAUND, Foreman.

OFFICERS

R. H. SOMMERVILLE, President. G. A. STEWART, Sec. and Treas.
H. & C. Telephone No. 176. Bell Phone No. 47

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION BY MAIL

One Year.....$4.00 Three Months.....$1.50
Six Months.....$3.00 One Month.....$.50

By Carrier 12 cents per Week Payable to Carrier.

Entered in Post Office at Clearfield, Pa. as second class mail matter.

Can we be too ambitious, too willing to assume responsibility and too eager to shoulder the tasks of the community? Emphatically no. It is up to every man to give the best that is in him for his town, his neighborhood. It is a sad state of affairs indeed when men refuse to accept community assignments because of their personal and private affairs demanding all their attention. Rare indeed is the case in which such an answer is excusable; only when the occupation of that man requires that every moment of his time be given to it in order that he may earn a living. The man who shirks civic responsibility and devotes all his time to amassing wealth is doing nothing for others, even his family when he is gone are able to point to nothing but his wealth as the sum total of his life's accomplishment, and wealth today is entirely too unstable to be classed as a monument.

Clearfield today has only a few whose sole right to remembrance will be the contents of their strong box, and it is high time that they be building monuments if they wish their name to be perpetuated. The city has others, equally successful, who are giving of their time, their effort, their energy and their money, and these are truly great.

Ask yourself what you have done for your neighbor and your community and in the answer you will find your fellow's estimate of your worth.

The Central Pennsylvania Operators today present an imposing brief of over one hundred printed pages to the United States Coal Commission. The United Mine Workers present an equally imposing brief, probably of even greater magnitude.

What will be the result?

A few people sitting on the Commission who knew little of nothing about coal mining will get some information about one of the greatest of America's industries. They will take the hard and cold facts presented to them, together with the arguments pro and con and attempt, by the application of theoretical principles and cure-alls, to bring about an understanding.

The Commission will make rulings and state findings which will look good in print but be no more effective than a Public Service Commission Order requiring the building of a new N. Y. C. station at Clearfield.

It is not to be expected that this editorial is in the nature of constructive thought. It is sarcasm and we admit it.

Good Evening, Ladies. Here is your editorial today on the upper right hand corner of this page. It is written by Florence Davies and appears each day in The Progress as well as the New York Tribune and the Pittsburgh Post. The subject matter today may not interest you, but if you follow the writings of Florence Davies for a couple of weeks you will find that she writes in a sympathetic vein which reveals a thorough understanding of human nature. The only reason we hesitated to have Florence Davies join our staff was that once she started we knew the women readers would demand her to be present always. Look for the Florence Davies article every evening.

NOW FOR THE HONEYMOON!

THE AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE ABROAD

The American automobile repair purposes aggregates in that period about $300,000,000; the value of automobile tires exported in that period was $180,000,000, and the engines about $30,000,000. A much larger proportion of the machines exported is still doing business in some form than is generally realized, for many of the machines originally sold for passenger purposes are after they have rendered service in the capacity originally intended transformed into a condition in which they can be used for the minor trade traffic and industry purposes, rendering service to enormous numbers of persons engaged in business and mechanical industries, and thus minimizing the time lost by the former traffic methods and to that extent increasing their business facilities. Automobile authorities estimate that more than three-fourths of the motor cars exported in 1913 was used more or less for business purposes.

One interesting feature of this compilation prepared for the Trade Record lies in the opportunity which it offers to compare export prices at the present time with those of a decade ago. The number of passenger machines exported in 1913 was 25,880 and the value $25,347,644, an average of practically $1,000 per machine, while the number of passenger machines exported in 1922 was 66,790 and their recorded value on exportation $51,050,000, an average of $764 per machine, while the commercial machines show a corresponding decrease in average value.

These figures showing the enormous exportation of motor vehicles are especially interesting at this moment when the latest trade figures show tremendous increases over the corresponding period of last year. Of passenger machines alone, the total exports in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, are, according to official reports of the Government, 62,454 against 23,694 in the same period of last year, and of motor trucks and buses 11,336 against 4,226 in the same months of 1921.

One especially interesting feature of the big increase in exports during the current fiscal year occurs in the fact that the large increases are chiefly in movements to European countries and their colonies. Of passenger machines the number sent to the United Kingdom in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, is 4,739 against 979 in the same months of the preceding year. Belgium 4,300 against 987; Denmark 901 against 153; Norway 1,134 against 85; Sweden 1,844 against 475; Spain 2,337 against 226; Australia 10,567 against 3,849, while to the South American countries there are also large increases, to Argentina 2,778 against 486, and to Brazil 1,959 in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, against 236 in the same period of the preceding year.

INCREASED IMPORTATION OF MANUFACTURING MATERIALS

The growing dependence of the manufacturers of the United States upon the foreign world for their raw material is evidenced by the latest figures of our foreign trade. The importation of "crude material for use in manufacturing" will approximate, according to the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, a billion and a half dollars in the fiscal year which ends with the current month, against $909,000,000 in the fiscal year 1922, and $1,051,000,000 in the fiscal year 1921.

Raw material for manufacturing formed in the 9 months ending with March no less than 39% of the total merchandise entering the country as against 35% in the fiscal year 1922 and 29% in the fiscal year 1921. These figures relate exclusively to crude materials and do not include the group "manufactures for further use in manufacturing," which formed 19% of the imports of the 9 months ending with March as against 15% in 1922 and slightly less than 15% in 1921. Combining these two groups of crude material and manufactures for further use in manufacturing, it appears that material used in the manufacturing industries of the United States formed no less than 58% of the total merchandise entering the country in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, against 50% in 1922. The total value of manufacturing materials, crude or partly manufactured, drawn from abroad in the fiscal year which ends with the current month will exceed $2,000,000,000, the exact figures for the 9 months for which details are now available being, crude material for use in manufacturing $1,070,631,000, and manufactures for Trade Record, contributes in greater or less degree to the wants of our manufacturers. The raw materials of which we imported $285,000,000 worth in the first 8 months of the current fiscal year, came chiefly from Japan, which alone supplied $208,000,000 worth, China $55,000,000, and Italy $8,000,000 worth. Wool, of which the imports of the 8 months in question were $87,000,000, came largely from Australia, Argentina, Uruguay, and certain of the European countries which drew from their colonies at least a part of that which they sent us. India rubber, of which the value imported in the 8 months in question was $79,000,000 against $55,000,000 in the same period of last year, came largely from the British and Dutch East Indies, and in limited quantities from Brazil, also from the United Kingdom and Netherlands, which sent us a part of the rubber which they had drawn from their own colonies. Of cotton, of which we are the world's largest producer, our total imports in the 8 months were $44,000,000 worth against $31,000,000 in the same months of last year; from Egypt alone $33,000,000 worth, Peru nearly $2,000,000, and China nearly $2,000,000. The tin which, as above indicated, came largely in the form of the Malayan Peninsula, the Dutch East Indies, while that coming in the form of ore was from Bolivia. The fibers came chiefly from India and other extremely tropical sections; the gums are chiefly tropical, while petroleum, of which the imports of the 8 months ending with February were over 3,000,000 gallons, came chiefly from Mexico.

The whole world, however, adds

Progress Editorial For Women

NOT SO FUNNY

By Florence Davies.
A noted English artist drew some funny pictures not long ago but some people failed to smile.

The artist was the well known Max Beerbohm, whose humorous cartoons have delighted the art world for years. But among this latest group of pictures were some of the King of England and his son, the Prince of Wales.

Artist Beerbohm was only thinking of the King and the Prince as the likable human beings that they are; and because he liked them, he thought it quite permissible to poke a little fun at them. But the English people didn't see it in just that way.

The English people love the royal family, as they have good cause to do. They reverence them and respect them, not at all because the English people labor under the delusion that the Windsors are any more than human, but because, human though they be, this family represents to the English a great ideal.

And so they saw something in a picture of the King and the Prince as the likable human beings that they are; and because he liked them, he thought it quite permissible to poke a little fun at them. But the English people didn't see it in just that way.

Happily the affair did not cause bitterness, because the artist was quick to explain that no harm was meant. And so what might have been a small tempest, blows over without even rocking the tea table.

But it leaves behind as a lesson, one we all find it hard to learn. The mother of a large family of children, we are all of us just children, for that matter had a rule which she always taught her boys and girls. It was this:

"Never make a face, which, if taken in earnest, could hurt."

It is surprising how many attempts at humor would be barred out if we observed that rule. But it is equally surprising to learn that there would be more true fun and laughter left than ever.

Bitterness has no place in the bottom of the cup of life. How many heartaches we would save if we would teach our children that. It may seem like a little thing, but it is just this bit, that when one man let his sense of humor add him a lot, a whole nation winced.

Pleasantries which are extravagantly complimentary may be just as amusing as pleasantries which are based on cruel ridicule, and how much more delightful.

There are families whose chief delight is in making fun of some one member.

I know one man who almost hates his wife, because her principal way of showing off is the public rehearsal of his little weaknesses and follies. If she had any fineness she would see the hurt, embarrassed look in his eyes when she utters her quips and jokes. But she only thinks she is being funny. In his heart I believe there have been times when he has been almost a murderer.

People who are wise cannot fight their enemies with tongue lashings and swords. They fight them with ridicule. There is no more potent weapon. Why use it, then, to wound, when only mirth was meant? If Mr. Beerbohm has learned his lesson, can't some of us learn it, along with him?

NEW SCHEDULE ON PENNSY IN EFFECT; ONE STOP HERE

The new schedule of passenger trains Nos. 6402 and 6403, between Tyrone and Clearfield, previously referred to in our columns, becomes effective Monday, June 18th.

The new train will leave Tyrone at 1:05 a. m. with the following schedule: (One stop only) 1:25; Clearfield, 1:40; Williamsport, 1:55; Pottsville, 2:10; Reading, 2:25; Philadelphia, 3:40; New York, 5:15. (One stop only) 1:25; Clearfield, 1:40; Williamsport, 1:55; Pottsville, 2:10; Reading, 2:25; Philadelphia, 3:40; New York, 5:15.

The new schedule in effect today will give the business man about an hour's more time to open his mail and get an answer out on the afternoon mail and should be an advantage to the shopper who is given additional time in Clearfield. Bear in mind that the train arriving here at ten o'clock will not stop at Market street as it has done for years, neither will the early afternoon train leaving Clearfield.

Cork Production.

The tree from which cork is obtained is only fit to be harvested when about twenty-six years old, and this can be done successfully every eight years, the quality improving with the increasing age of the tree.

Subscribe for the Progress

Lord Baltimore Stationery

What pride and satisfaction good stationery gives to the user, and what a favorable impression it makes upon the person to whom your correspondence is addressed!

LORD BALTIMORE is high-quality stationery, yet not expensive. You may possess LORD BALTIMORE in the beautiful box which is an ornament to any writing table or desk—24 sheets and 24 envelopes. Or you may get the paper economically by the pound—90 sheets—and a separate carton of 50 envelopes to match. Or, if you want it in the most convenient form for vacation or travel use, there is the compact LORD BALTIMORE Portfolio of 50 sheets and 24 envelopes.

LORD BALTIMORE quality will satisfy you and LORD BALTIMORE prices will surprise you.

FINANCIAL HELP

If you have a going business under-financed or a proposed Company of merit, but lack the funds to properly finance it, get in touch with us. We are in a position to furnish unlimited capital, providing your proposition is clean-cut. For appointment write Box 123, care The Progress.

Checking Accounts

A convenience every enterprising business man and modern housewife should enjoy. Are you one of the many satisfied Checking Account patrons we have on our books today? If not, better enlist.

Clearfield National Bank

"The Bank of Personal Service"

Curwensville's Own Column

Roscoe Shaffer, a brother of Percy Shaffer of this place, met with an accident while working in the woods near Kerrmoor, a few days since by which he is likely to lose the sight of the right eye. He was engaged in what is known in woodsmen lore as "bumping knots" when a piece flew from the axe blade and hit him in the eye. He is in the Clearfield Hospital where everything is being done for him in an effort to save the sight.

Cons: Benjamin Chase with several other people visited our town for a few hours on Sunday.

John Kelly and wife who spent last week out in Warren, O., visited with relatives and looking the town over, returned here on Anderson avenue today.

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Al-man Hickok, who live in a house in rear of the M. Langhin Furniture store, died at an early hour on Saturday morning. Funeral Director Doversville prepared the body for burial. The funeral being held on Sunday, with interment in the Blooming-ton cemetery.

A law suit between several colored ladies came off before J. A. Dale Esq., Saturday evening. According to the testimony hair pulling, biting, scratching, stone throwing and a lot of profanity was indulged in by all parties concerned. The defendant in the mix was held in bail bond for her appearance at county court. The court was crowded with spectators, who were greatly amused at some of the testimony offered in support of defendant's side of the case.

A very pleasing and interesting students' service was held in the Methodist church Sunday morning. In the evening an anti-saloon apostle held the audience by an interesting discourse along the lines of his subject.

In reading over a paper issued to employees by the Pennsylvania railroad company, we find this complimentary notice of a former Curwensville resident: "Harry F. Bell, a passenger conductor, Tyrone, won the admiration of all passengers on his train the other day at Howard, Pa. when he stopped the train and went back and assisted an old lady to get on. Otherwise she would have missed it. Mr. Bell, on July 1st, will complete his thirty-one year service in the passenger service on the Tyrone division with a spotless record."

A number of Curwensville men, accompanied by their families picnicked at the Dilger Rocks and other mountain resorts yesterday. The Dilger Rocks are known from Philadelphia to Erie as an ideal spot for camping parties, some of which remain two weeks at one stretch. You might search a long period before finding such water, scenery and everything that goes with a wilderness camping ground.

Orville King has been walking with the aid of a cane for several days past. He went out horse back riding and the initial stepping into a dip in the road fell over on its side, King falling underneath, bruising and injuring the limb.

Constable Korb arrested a man by name of McNeil Saturday on the charge of operating a car while under the influence of liquor and having a lot of booze in his possession. At a hearing before Equire Dale the evidence against him was sort of remote and after being held for an hour or two was released.

According to a marriage license applied for we notice one from Curwensville, the parties being Richard A. Simpsore, of Tyrone and Miss Jazlie Passarelli, daughter of Henry Passarelli, Filbert street. The marriage ceremony will be performed in St. Timothy's Catholic church on Sunday next, Rev. Father Lynch officiating.

The ladies bible class of the Methodist church announce a picnic to be held on Thursday in the grove at the Pee Wee's nest.

Farmers are complaining that unless a good soaking rain falls within the next few days, the corn crop will be almost a complete failure. The

See "The Hotentot" if you like to see a man who was afraid and knew it, make good. Driggs Theatre Wednesday & Thursday. 6:18-11:15

Commercialites To Hear A Very Able Speaker At Regular Meet Tonight

A couple of years ago it was the writer's privilege to hear an address on investments by Frederick Carles, a statistician for Harper & Turner, a bond house of Philadelphia. On that occasion Mr. Carles was the guest of Mr. L. A. McDowell of this city who represents Harper & Turner in this territory, and who invited a number of the patrons of the company to an informal luncheon at the Jordan to meet Mr. Carles. Of course we had no money to invest but knowing of many who did and of how they had invested it unwisely his remarks were indeed interesting. What Mr. Carles does not know about bonds is not much. Recently the Commercial Club entered into a campaign to educate the people of the community to keep away from the get rich quick schemes offered by irresponsible parties. Mr. Carles' visitation here will be right in line with this work and what he will say will be of great benefit to every one who hears him. Every member should be present.

LAWRENCEVILLE HAS

ANOTHER FIRE
Pittsburgh, June 18.—Lawrenceville had another oil fire scare today when dense clouds of smoke began pouring from one of the tanks in the yards of the Atlantic Refining Company. The blaze was soon extinguished.

W. L. Dotloff, general manager of the nickel mill at Hyde, was registered at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York last week.

long drouth has turned the leaves a yellowish color and the stalks are not moving upward as they should but simply standing still. The same can be truthfully said of nearly all of the garden vegetables.

Both the coal and fire clay miners are getting a great deal of unnecessary rest these days. About three days a week is the average for those who follow those hazardous occupations. The coal mines in this neighborhood are not getting cars for shipment while the clay miners claim that the yards are short of labor hence the reluctance of the managers to amass a huge supply ahead of working conditions at the different plants.

Paul Rankin, wife and children drove to Curwensville on Saturday from Purchase Line, Indiana county for a few days with relatives residing in this vicinity.

Children's Day exercises Sunday evening in Grace Lutheran church by the Sunday School pupils was a pleasing and interesting affair, consisting as it did of singing, recitations and reading. The church was handsomely and elaborately decorated which added greatly to the entertainment.

W. H. Robinson, a former resident of Curwensville and Clearfield, died at his home in Pittsburgh Saturday night last. The remains will be brought to Curwensville by automobile on Tuesday and taken to the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Fox, where friends may view the remains from 2 to 4 o'clock, after which interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

STRAND THEATRE CURWENSVILLE

MONDAY TUESDAY WEDNESDAY
(Matinee Wednesday Afternoon)

ROBIN HOOD

—starring—
Douglas Fairbanks

Two Shows Each Night

Starting at 6:45 and 9:15

Wednesday Matinee Starts at 2 P. M.

Admission 55c and 25c

Blouses are Still as Sleeveless As the Venus de Milo

Little Lord Fauntleroy would have lost his world-famous aplomb if he could have seen this interpretation of his beloved costume. But perhaps in mourning the lost masculinity he would be gallant enough to admit its delightful feminine qualities.

The round collar becomes so large and protective that it is practically a small cape—and the Fauntleroy tie turns into a sash. The collar, of sheer white chenette, is made in two sections—a band of flat laid pleats next to the neck, which is in turn banded by a circular flare of the same material, piped in blue to match the great ribbon bow which ties the belt and is so characteristically French.

The blouse is as sleeveless as the Venus de Milo, and is rather long waisted. The fullness of the skirt is augmented by shirtings at the hips.

Red dots of unequal size, grouped in clusters and interspersed with dark blue dashes on a lovely blue-gray background, make up the original design of the printed crepe de chine, which is a late example from the atelier of Henri Creange, the designer.

Mrs. Creighton Goes On Trial Today; Lucretia Borgia Alleged Outdone

Newark, N. J., June 18.—Facing charges that represents her as a modern Lucretia Borgia, Mrs. Mary F. Creighton went on trial here today for the alleged murder of her brother by slow poisoning.

A pale nervously smiling woman, Mrs. Creighton looked like anything but the cold blooded murderess, which the State claims her to be. She is accused of having fed arsenic to Charles Raymond Avery, aged eighteen to obtain his life insurance.

Her husband, John, a mild mannered man with a dazed air is charged with the same offense. The prosecution proposes to show that he came under the influence of his wife and was forced to participate in the alleged poison plot.

In addition to young Avery, Mrs. Creighton is suspected of having poisoned her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter G. Creighton. She is under indictment for this. The elder woman's body was exhumed and traces of poison found in it.

THE WEATHER THIS WEEK

Washington, D. C. June 18.—Weather outlook for Period Monday, June 18 to Saturday June 23, 1923, inclusive: Considerable cloudiness with occasional showers. Warmer first half of week; cooler latter half.

Try a Progress "Want Ad"

BROWN'S 7 STORES BROWN'S 7 STORES

Sale of Women's White Fabric Slippers

$1.98

INCLUDES EVERY PAIR OF WHITE FABRIC STRAP SLIPPERS
IN OUR STOCKS

Military, Baby Louis and Flat Heels

ALSO

White Fabric Sports Oxfords

Black or Brown Trim, Flat Heels

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

Brown's Boot Shops

CLEARFIELD

Punxsutawney Philipsburg
Salamanca, N. Y.

Indiana

DuBois

HORSE SHOE NEWS

Membership cards for the horse shoe clubs are in the hands of the ward managers and it is hoped to have as much of the ward organization made as possible this week so that schedules can be drawn up and actual pitching started. All the old courts should be conditioned and new ones laid out where needed. It is expected to have a court in the center of town where it will be more easily reached both by players and spectators. The ward managers are as published last week:

1st Ward—John Woods.
2nd ward—Boyd Smith.
3rd Ward—Frank Withers v.
4th Ward—Ray Eddie.

Subscribe for the Progress

500 AND BRIDGE PARTY

The Woman's Club will give a 500 and Bridge party at the Recreation House at the silk mill on Turnpike avenue on Tuesday evening. The proceeds of the affair will go into the street marker fund and every body who can possibly do so should be present. Sewers are especially wanted at this meeting also.

And Just Think---
For $5.00 Down and $2.29 Weekly

You will be a Delighted Owner of a New

AutoMatic
Washer

And if you purchase one before July 31st, we'll furnish you FREE OF CHARGE, with a No. 2 GALVANIZED RINSE TUB.

We even do more than that—we give you an opportunity to do a washing in your own home with this Corrugated Copper Tub AUTOMATIC Washer.

All you have to do is to fill out and mail or bring the FREE TRIAL COUPON below to our store.

But please remember—this FREE TRIAL OFFER and the SPECIAL TERMS indicated above, will be withdrawn July 31, 1923.

The manufacturers of the AUTOMATIC were organized in 1907 for the purpose of building this type of machine, the FIRST of its kind to be sold.

Through all these years their time, money, engineering skill and manufacturing facilities have been devoted to this one style of washer. That's why it is known for its distinctive qualities, and why we have sold it for years and urge you to give it a trial.

FREE TRIAL COUPON

To ELECTRIC SUPPLY CO.:

I agree to give the AUTOMATIC Washer a thorough test and operate it according to directions you furnish, and with the distinct understanding I am not obligated in any way whatever.

Signed

Address

This Free Trial Offer Expires July 31, 1923.

Electric Supply Company

Market Street

Clearfield, Pa.

Baldwin Cabinet Needs More Ginger

New Political Alignment In England Gives Lloyd George His Chance to Come Back

Baldwin, England's new Prime Minister, will have to ginger up governmental affairs if he is to survive Sir Charles Ross, Bart., owner of "The Outlook" of London, declares in the following article in which he gives a close-up analysis of England's recent cabinet shakeup.

England needs more vigorous administration than Bonar Law. "Tranquility" program gave, and Premier Baldwin will have a harder fight with the English Liberal Party than Bonar Law had to face.—The United Press, New York.

By SIR CHARLES ROSS, Bart. (Copyright, 1923, by United Press) By arrangement with "The Outlook," London.

London, June 18. (United Press)—The deplorable sudden breakdown of Mr. Bonar Law's health excited respectful and universal sympathy, even among opponents.

In some ways, undoubtedly, the Baldwin Government may be stronger than its predecessor. That is not to say much. The shadow of premature death was on the Bonar Law Administration from the hour of its birth. The shadow of "tranquility" is not precisely the watchword of vigorous health; the strong man wants to do things, to assert himself, to leave his mark on the country. Unless the Baldwin Government proves more vigorous and more alert than its parent, it cannot hope to last its full term and put up a good fight against its Labor and Liberal opponents.

The Heavy Lords
One weakness of the Bonar Law Government was that it had too much to hamper in the House of Lords, and too little weight of metal in the Commons. Mr. Baldwin may probably think it unwise to reconstruct too much, for his colleagues if not brilliant, are at least capable. The reaction of the new administration on domestic politics will soon be visible. Conservatives will be more confident, simply because they have a leader who is physically in better trim than their late chief. Labor is left very much where it was—that is to say, putting its fingers to its nose.

and making unmanly noises. It is the Liberals who will benefit most by the change; for the retirement of Mr. Bonar Law is the final break-up of the Coalition.

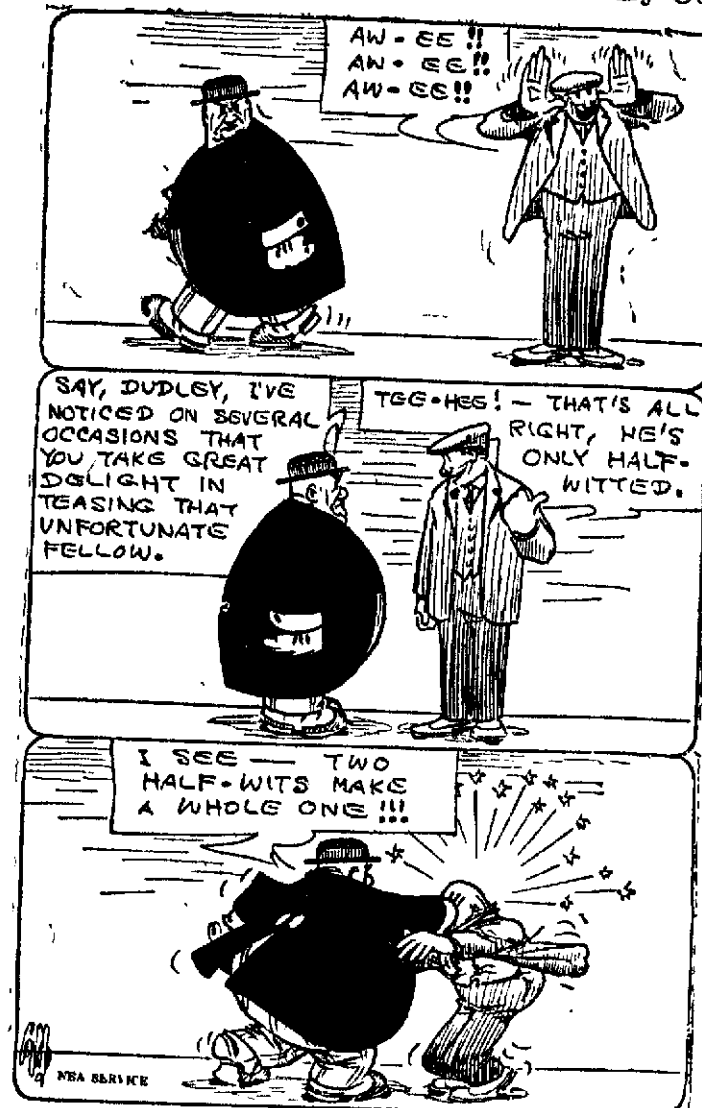

Resume Warfare.
The Law-George partnership, although broken off two years ago, had left its marks on the present Parliament; men do not so easily forget their old associations and commitments. But Mr. Baldwin owes nothing to Mr. Lloyd George, and most certainly Mr. George owes nothing to Mr. Baldwin; there is no reason in the world why party warfare should not be resumed.

That consideration itself should help forward Liberal reunion—only the same twins on the Liberal side would stop their wrangling. The first results of Liberal reunion would probably be that a few National Liberals would discover that they were Conservative at heart, and join the Baldwin banner. That would not really matter; the world discovered it long ago.

Liberal prospects are brightening; they cannot hope for office in the immediate future, but if they will drop their abject personal vendetta they may at least expect to become the alternative Government when the time comes, soon or late, for Mr. Baldwin to resign. Worcestshire is a private citizen, read his books and grow pigs.
Liberalism is now the true "Centre Party," and in due course will have to deliver the country from reaction and its "Hard Faces," as well as from the chattering Banderlog of the Clyde.

EVERETT TRUE

By Condr

Patchwork on Children's Frocks

Children's dresses are trimmed with patchwork—not only their dresses, but everything in the nursery is so ornamented. Pillows, wall-borders, lamp shades, bedspreads, curtains and the dresses of the owner are decorated with patchwork nursery stories, animals and flowers.

THERE'S no need for cheerless walls with Acme Quality No-Lustre Finish. Every possibility for the most artistic wall decoration can be realized with it. Has the beauty of water color, soft pleasing tones and rich colors—yet many advantages of an oil paint—sanitary, permanent, easily maintained. Color samples for your inspection.

For the finest enameling in White or Ivory—Acme Quality Cabnet Enamel

Wm. F. Powell

South Second Street

Clearfield, Pa.

Lester And Rowles Out Of Line-up For Game At DuBois Tomorrow P. M.

The following men will probably accompany the team to DuBois tomorrow:

McCloskey, left field.
Mahaffie, third base.
Robinson, short stop.
Rowles, right field.
Townsend, first base.
Flegal, center field.
Peterson, second base.

Fauver or Bowles will pitch. Heberling and Mitchell, infield. Rowles, outfield. Cowdrick, pitcher. "Sluggers" Rowles has developed a new arm and will be given a lay off until Thursday's game. Sluggers' arm was sore when we played DuBois for he asked to be relieved then. Flegal will take Rowles' place in the outfield.

Peterson will be given a chance to show his stuff at DuBois. Manager Pierce is giving all the boys a chance to make good and should be complimented on giving a chance to the ones who have been working so hard.

All the men will be measured for new uniforms tonight. Watch them when they appear on the 4th. Anybody wishing to take a car load to DuBois Tuesday get in touch with Wm. Pierce at the Y. M. C. A.

SUIT IS ENTERED

Suit was entered in Prothonotary Nelson's office this morning by W. Wallace Smith, Esq., representing the Hadfield Penfield Steel Company, which concern is seeking to recover on a note for $2,200 given by the Beccaria-Clearfield Coal Co. on May 19, 1922, and which bore the endorsement of L. Montel.

BENNY KYTE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Detroit's Most Popular Orchestra

WILL PLAY AT

FAIRVIEW PARK
Oscola Mills, Pa.

Tuesday, June 19th.

32 Weeks

BLOSSOM HEATH INN

45 Minutes from Woodward

(Not Broadway)

Detroit's Finest and Most Popular Road House

16 Weeks

PONTCHARTRAIN ON THE LAKE

Detroit's Most Exclusive Road House on Lake Shore Drive

Subscription $2.00

Extra Ladies 25c

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Unless we have copious rains very soon, all newly planted shade trees should be thoroughly watered at least twice a week. This applies equally to trees set out last year for trees are very much like babies and widowers, hard to get them over the second summer, they need attention, water and cultivation. Shade Tree Commission. 6/18/23/ch

STREET MARKERS HERE

The street markers secured by and thru the efforts of the Woman's Club have arrived and are now ready to be put up. The Woman's Club are to be congratulated upon their success with this public-spirited move. Clearfield streets have never been marked and it is a hard proposition for the stranger within our gates to get about with any degree of satisfaction and it was to remedy this condition that the Woman's Club got busy.

It will be necessary to place many of the street markers on private residences and property owners should and no doubt will co-operate with the Woman's Club by allowing the markers to be placed on their properties where the same is necessary.

DRIGGS THEATRE TONIGHT

She wrote herself love letters because no one else would.

Because she never had a man she spread scandals about herself.

And when her heart would not bear anymore pain she had to live her romance.

Marshall Neilan Presents

"MINNIE"

—with—

LEATRICE JOY and MATT MOORE

—A FIRST NATIONAL ATTRACTION—

Chuckle—Cheer—Choke.

Truly—a LIVING Picture!

LIBERTY THEATRE TONIGHT

PROGRESS PICTURES CORPORATION

present

ROY STEWART

and

KATHLEEN KIRKMAN

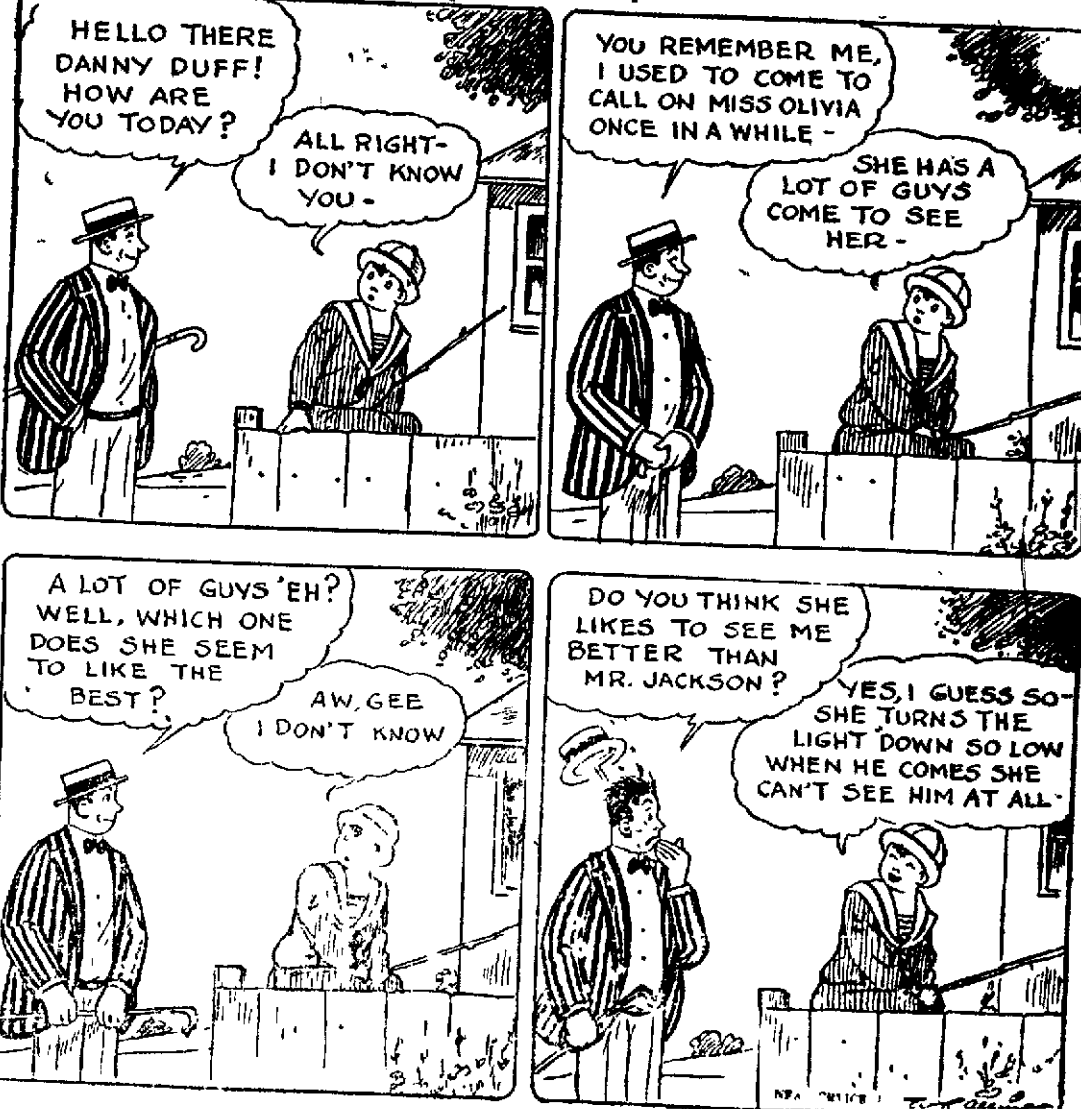

—in—

Innocent Cheat

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Inside Dope

By Allman

SEND IN YOUR RED ENVELOPE NOW

Round Dance

SECOND WARD HOSE HOUSE

TUESDAY, JUNE 19TH.

Couples 75c

Extra Ladies 25c

6/18/23

19

FOR ENJOYMENT THIS WEEK COME HERE TUESDAY EVENING A DANCE

Al. Rockwell and his orchestra
—Wednesday Evening—
An Old Time Square Dance
—Thursday Evening—
A Good Dinner
(5:40 to 7:00)
THE ORCHESTRA WILL BE HERE.

JORDAN'S
P. S.—Be Sure and Look Up This
Space Each Day

WELL KNOWN O'SHANTER RESIDENT DIES

Hugh Collins, one of the best known residents of the O'Shanter section, died at his home on Thursday, June 14 1923. The deceased was born in Hollytown, Scotland, Feb. 18, 1858, and was therefore aged 65 years, 3 months and 26 days. He came to O'Shanter many years ago. He was an industrious, upright man who enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew him. He was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church, being affiliated with the church of that denomination at Glen Richey.

He is survived by the following sons and daughters: Thomas and Samuel of Commodore, Pa.; Mrs. John Weir, Hugh, Robert, William and Alexander, of O'Shanter; James, of Ridgway, Pa.; George, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Agnes, at home. Two brothers, George, of Niagara Falls, and Alexander, of Burnside, also survive.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. E. C. Reeve, of the Clearfield Presbyterian church, officiating.

Maine Coast.

Sparkling blue water, Christmas-tree shores, great gray boulders, leaping white surf, island after island. Justing rocks, crowned with little white lighthouses, green, sunny glades with summer homes amid sheltering pines; long, low rounded hills and cattle against the sky line. Thriving towns, sleepy villages, picturesque landing places. In summer happy pleasure seekers strolling on shore, speeding in motor boats, flitting by in sail boats. In winter, glitter of ice and snow, weather-beaten, softly-tinted fishing smacks; shrewd, wrinkled, weather-seasoned fishermen. Summer and winter, green of spruce and pine, tang of crisp balsam air.—Christian Science Monitor.

Trinitrotoluene.

"T. N. T." is an abbreviation for trinitro-toluene, a very powerful explosive used in shells, mines, hand grenades and torpedoes. It is formed from toluene by treatment of this hydrocarbon with strong nitric acid in the presence of concentrated sulphuric acid. Toluene is one of the products of the distillation of coal tar. T. N. T. crystallizes in almost white needles, and at ordinary temperatures it is quite stable; it burns with a smoky flame when heated. In its chemical composition the molecule of trinitro-toluene consists of six carbon atoms, five hydrogen atoms, three nitrogen atoms and three oxygen atoms.

Phosphorus are found in the Malay peninsula and in these seas for centuries. These phosphates are probably as common as any people in the world under their own feet. They are found in the soil and in the water. A few hundred years ago scattered through the possession of one of the kings with a title of nobility. To be without a knife is a disgrace.

Knowledge and Understanding. The improvement of the understanding is for two ends: First, our own increase of knowledge; secondly, to enable us to deliver and make out that knowledge to others.—Locke

Are you afraid of horses? Then you will appreciate "The Hottentot" at the Driggs Wednesday and Thursday. 6/18/18

Rubber Bathing Caps

Protect your hair when you go swimming with one of these bathing caps of rubber. There are the plain tightly fitting ones or there are the ones with more or less frills. Plenty of colors so that you may match your bathing suit.

STEWART'S DRUG STORE
CLEARFIELD, PA.

HORSESHOES TONIGHT

The three final games between Flint and Smith will be pitched this evening at 7 o'clock at Fourth and Reed streets. They are the now, three games each, and the games this evening promise to be good ones.

Woodcuts.

The art of wood engraving is very old. When it was rare to find a prince who could write, little woodcuts for attesting documents were in use in Europe. But before that the Chinese had invented the art. In modern times the woodcut has been submerged beneath other methods of reproducing drawings and photographs, but the art is now being kept delightfully alive by the Society of Wood Engravers of London.

Woman told, never

The first woman to talk in telephone is said to have been Mrs. E. G. Seymour. In 1874 when Alexander Graham Bell was making his first experiments with the telephone at Brantford, Ont. Mrs. Seymour was teaching school in that place and helped the inventor string the wire and set up his telephone instruments.

Try a Progress "Want Ad"

Summer Blouses

Overblouses, in some tailored style are most in demand for summer wear. They are light, airy and are popular for their ease and comfort. English is a popular and modern choice in colors. Blouses are some of the most needed items.

LET US FILL YOUR COAL
BIN NOW FOR NEXT WINTER

You'll save money and be sure of the coal.

Krebs Bros. Drayage Co.
Both Phones.

C. R. Dixon
GENERAL HAULING

Local and Long Distance

H. & C. 225-J-3.

107 South Fourth Street

Gossip For Tonight's Tea Table

Miss Lola Shirey came from Wilkes-Barre to spend the week end with her parents here.

Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, of Corwensville, entertained at Bridge on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wright and Mrs. William H. Patterson of Clearfield, were among the guests.

Cecil Wilson and Philip Reed attended the reunion of their classes at Princeton last week.

W. C. Miller left today for Harrisburg and will spend several days at Northumberland visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. W. Van Allen.

Mrs. Annie Dori, Mrs. Carrie McCaughey, Miss DeL. H. McCordell and Miss M. Cardell of Brantford, motored to Philadelphia today and will spend ten days or two weeks.

Virginia Cristoff of Ocooca, visited her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Malloy over the week end.

Mrs. Ernest Riddinger returned to her home in Philadelphia, after a visit with friends here.

Miss Anna Bratton has returned to Jefferson Hospital, Phila., where she is in training, having spent a vacation with her mother, Mrs. Ethel Bratton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Qualey, of Oswego, who have been visiting at the home of W. C. Miller, left today for Northumberland and other points where they will visit before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leonard, of West Hickory, spent the week end in town.

Richard George and Walter Stewart, of Winburne, attended the Masonic dinner on Friday.

J. Frank Powell, of Clarion, was a visitor on Saturday.

Colonel Markham was a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Kerr.

Arthur Rowles, of Pike township, transacted business here on Saturday.

Harry E. Wagner, of Ramey, was a visitor on Saturday.

Philipsburg Masons, who attended the dinner on Friday were: W. B. Brown, Rev. J. I. Scott, Mr. Ward Fleming, S. H. Wigton, A. H. Duncan, H. C. McClure and J. H. Eskridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Koffman, of Pittsburgh visited friends here last week.

Miss Virginia Miller of Tyrone, is the house guest of Miss Anne Waterworth.

Miss Jean Hay, Miss Shields and Miss Michaels, of Philipsburg, spent Friday, in town.

A number of friends of Robert Kennedy gave a party in his honor at the country club in Harrisburg. Miss Miller and Miss Stine were out of town guests.

Miss Dolly Stine of Morrisdale is visiting Miss Julia Wallace.

Harold Boulton has returned from Yale to spend the summer vacation.

James Childs, a classmate of Harold Boulton at Yale University, is spending several days at the latter's home.

E. H. Van Horn and J. P. Zeigler, of Falls Creek, spent Saturday in town.

Milton Mays, of Olanta, was a visitor here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Noe of Huntingdon, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. John Forsyth.

Mrs. M. L. Haines and daughter, Martha, of Bellefonte, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Black.

Mrs. C. W. Rauch, of Philadelphia, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kratzer.

Miss Della Owens, of Philadelphia is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Owens, of Mt. Joy. Miss Owens is training to be a nurse at Jefferson Hospital.

B. M. Clark, of Indiana, transacted business here on Saturday.

Hugh M. Irwin, Ralph F. Hess, George Berner, Fred P. Robinson, Al McNaull, Miles R. Porter, Crosby F. Hayes of Curwensville, attended the Masonic dinner on Friday evening.

E. J. Goodyear of Winburne, was a visitor on Saturday.

Luther M. Lindemuth, of State College spent the week end with friends here.

William Nichols, Principal of the 3rd ward school, has returned to his home in Wilkes Barre.

Hummel Fishburn, of State College is spending several days at the home of Kirk Hill.

Miss Betty Butts of DuBois, is spending the week end with Miss Graft.

W. L. Burchfield, of Philipsburg, spent Friday in town.

Little Misses Jean and Louise Hile are spending a week or two at Glen Campbell.

Robert B. Blakeslee and M. F. Ginter, of DuBois, transacted business in Clearfield on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Zimmerman and niece, Mrs. Porta of Altoona, and Joseph Campbell of Perlick, Juniata county, spent Sunday with the former's brother, H. H. Zimmerman on Nichols street.

Why Do We Live?

Some of the inhabitants of the remote parts of central China have the idea that the greater the number of religious beliefs they profess the more certain are their chances in the next world. Members of the London Missionary society, who addressed a series of questions to the working-class population in these districts, received many original opinions as to the purpose of life. Some described it as "to enjoy wealth and happiness, and to make a living." Many others stated that it was a matter of preparing for the next world, and to "give glory to one's ancestors," while one man declared that the chief object of existence was "to dodge pain."

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S. Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. The World's Best Blood Medicine

TRY
PROGRESS
WANT ADDS

CONCRETE BLOCKS

Made on latest Hobb's machine. Tamped by the Anchor power tamper. The tamper that tamps and tamps right. We are now in position to make prompt deliveries. Quality first class. Prices right.

Tate & Conklin
601 Nichols Street.
One Square Above Turnpike Avenue.
Call H. A. Tate.
H. & C. 226-W-2.

Cold Creams
For Sunburn

If your week-end trip gave you a coat of sunburn, cold cream is the thing that will give you the greatest relief. We have one that will soothe the burn and give you rest.

Aughinbaugh's DRUG STORE

Subscribe for the Progress

Foot Troubles Need No Longer Sap Your Nerveous Energy

The pain of those poor, aching feet—how you long to get rid of it! For not only is the constant irritation distressing, but, as physicians well know, it saps your nervous energy, too. From June 16th to 23rd is your chance to get genuine foot comfort. For this week is Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week, when a concentrated drive is made on foot troubles of every description.

Your foot troubles may be the result of overstrained or broken down arches. When this condition develops danger signals such as corns, callouses, bunions, crooked toes, painful heels, weak ankles, rheumatic-like pains in feet and legs and that tired-out feeling after the slightest exercise or exertion soon make their appearance.

But thanks to Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the well-known foot authority, all this suffering is needless, for he has perfected a special Foot Comfort Appliance or Remedy for every foot trouble.

Our store is headquarters for the foot comfort service which Dr. Scholl has so scientifically worked out. We have a Foot Comfort Demonstrator always in attendance whose services are absolutely free. He is an expert on shoe fitting and can undoubtedly be of immense service to you in solving your foot and shoe troubles.

Make Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week a memorable occasion by knowing, once again, the value of comfortable, easy, efficient feet.

ROSS AND WOODS
GENERAL MERCHANDISE

IF YOU DON'T GET
YOUR PROGRESS
LET US KNOW

CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

THE WEATHER
Fair tonight and tomorrow;
not much change in the temperature.

VOLUME XVII

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS, CLEARFIELD, PA., MONDAY EVENING, JUNE 18, 1923.

NUMBER 143

7 KILLED, 16 INJURED, IN WAVE OF RECKLESS AUTO DRIVING IN PHILADELPHIA

EXECUTIVE BOARD GET DOWN TO WORK AT HARRISBURG

Harrisburg, June 18.—The Executive Board, supreme council of the Pinchot administration under the code, got down to consistent reorganization of the state government today.

The Board went into executive session with the Governor at noon in the second session to be held, armed with data, documents, reports and charts from the various departments of the old administration to be merged in the new.

The principal task facing the Governor in his new responsibility was the reduction in personnel and standardization of salaries. A number of appointments likewise confronted him.

Governor Pinchot was inclined to view the job of equalizing all the state employees doing similar work in different departments as "a long and tedious" one and it was likely first consideration would be given to appointments and dismissals. Between 20 and 30 persons of the office force must go.

LEWIS EXPLAINS POSITION ON THE NEW STATE CODE

Harrisburg, June 18.—Auditor General Lewis today accepted the basic principles of the administrative code as an act of the legislature to be enforced in accordance with his duties as an "elective state officer." He took occasion to state that he is not "party to an attack on the constitutionality of the code."

Lewis claims that his position is no different from that "toward any other statute passed by the Legislature."

Villagers Flee As Mount Etna Again Becomes A Crater Of Liquid Fire

Rome, June 18.—The village of Lingua Glessa on the slopes of Mt. Etna is reported to have been destroyed by a torrent of lava cascading down the side of the volcano.

Inhabitants of the town evacuated their dwellings yesterday following yesterday's earthquake and subterranean rumblings after a fiery stream had wiped out the neighboring hamlet of Boncorrate.

Residents of the nearby town of Castiglione fled from their homes today staggering under the weight of such household goods as they could carry as a river of lava approached within one kilometer. The eruption of Mt. Etna with a deafening explosion caused new craters to appear on the mountain. Vast clouds of black smoke were visible for miles. Hot ashes sifted from the sky over an immense area.

FRENCH AIRMAN ASCENDS 9,000 METERS; A RECORD

Paris, June 18.—Attempting to establish a world's altitude record, Lieutenant Bury ascended today in an airplane to a height of 9,000 meters.

At that point his oxygen tank broke and the airman fainted. His plane started tumbling earthward. Bury recovered consciousness in time to gain control, straighten out and make a safe landing.

CRUDE OIL DOWN AGAIN

Pittsburgh, June 18.—Crude oil was cut another 25c per barrel today, bringing the new price to $3.00.

Other grades on the eastern market were cut accordingly. New prices are: Somerset light, $1.75; Cabell, $1.60; Somerset medium, $1.55; Ragland, 90c; morning, $1.70.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 18.—A wave of reckless automobile driving swept over Philadelphia Sunday and early today, leaving in its wake seven persons killed and sixteen injured. Two children were crushed to death in the accidents. In two of the accidents the drivers of speeding cars left their victims lying in the street, speeding away to escape arrest. The other drivers surrendered to the police.

PINCHOT PLANNING MEANS OF USING "CO-OPERATIVE AGENCIES" IN HIS WAR ON BOOTLEGGER AND MOONSHINE

By S. P. HOLLINGSWORTH
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Harrisburg, June 18.—Governor Pinchot was planning today the best means of utilizing "co-operative agencies" in the enforcement of his prohibition law.

Meanwhile, the W. C. T. U., civil and religious organizations active in matters pertaining to enforcement of the 18th amendment were carrying their campaign for $250,000 to "assist the Governor" into every annuity of the commonwealth.

The question of legality of the step contemplated by Governor Pinchot in the use he makes of any private fund collected for this purpose, which was rejected by the legislature, was being watched carefully.

Attorney General Woodruff expected a request from the Governor for an opinion at which time he would disclose the legality of any step proposed for converting the money to use by the state.

"There are three elements to consider in the use made by the state of any fund such as this for the enforcement of law," said the attorney general.

"First there is the legal question involving the existence of any statute prohibiting it altogether; second, the desires of the administration, and everyone knows the Governor's sentiment on law enforcement.

"The third proposition is, what disposition do the contributors want to make of the money and what are their desires pertaining to its administration," he declared.

Woodruff indicated that a "committee for the enforcement of prohibition" might be formed, to receive contributions, authorize expenditures, and audit the accounts at the close of the campaign. This plan had been followed before, he said, where a worthy cause was at stake.

Everything hinged on the collection of the fund, but there seemed to be no doubt in administrative circles that the amount would be raised. The question of how best to use it was uppermost in the minds of those working on the problem.

In College Row

Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, president of Amherst College, is the central figure in a dispute over methods of education. Students planned to strike of the senior class commencement day in protest against the reported intention of trustees to oust the president.

PREDICT HARDING CHOICE WILL WIN IN MINNESOTA

St. Paul, Minn., June 18.—A light vote was cast today in Minnesota as voters nominated Republican, Democratic and Farmer-Labor candidates for the seat of the late United States Senator, Knute Nelson. The lack of interest and light voting was interpreted as favorable to the Republican administration candidate, Judge J. A. Preus, who was endorsed by President Harding.

The Preus organization guarantee of 100,000 votes is sure to hold good his proponents assert. They do not believe the total poll will be much heavier than 200,000.

Common Law Wife Of Millionaire Booze Peddler Presses Suit

Pittsburgh, June 18.—May Burke common law wife of Martin Burke alleged bootlegger, who was killed on the eve of his departure to serve a term in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, opened her court fight here today to gain control of Burke's millions.

Burke was shot and killed outside his home by an unknown assassin. He died intestate and Burke's relative have engaged an army of legal talent to prevent the vast estate going to the woman who claims she is Burke's widow by common law marriage.

The young woman, who is unusually pretty, was the first witness and admitted she entered into this common law marriage with Burke a day after her husband, James Munz, was buried. Munz was engaged in bootlegging with Burke and was shot and killed while bootlegging in Cleveland Ohio.

PLAN FOR THE 1924 STATE FARM FAIR AT MEETING TODAY

Harrisburg, June 18. (U. P.)—Plans for the 1924 state farm products show got under way today.

A meeting is to be held in the office of Secretary of Agriculture Frank Willis tonight when the state show committee will present its report.

The question of financing is uppermost in the minds of the promoters of the show. The need for additional floor space for the growing exhibits was also discussed.

A special committee headed by Dr. S. W. Fletcher, State College, is considering the advisability of charging an admission fee next year.

OPERATED UPON FOR APPENDICITIS

Jack, the little 7-year-old son of Dr. and Mrs. J. Paul Frantz, suffered a sudden attack of appendicitis yesterday and was taken to the Clearfield hospital where a prompt operation removed the trouble-making appendix. Jack came through smiling and wanted to get up and go home last evening, but will have to remain in the hospital for a few days yet.

Twenty Tons of Sea Monster

After this 40,000-pound sea monster was harpooned off Long Key, Fla., it put up a 12-hour fight that ended only when 50 bullets from a high-power rifle were fired into it. It is 35 feet long, 23 feet in girth, with a tail span of 12 feet. Naturalists say it belongs to a rare family called the "Indo-Pacific basking shark," part whale and part shark. An idea of its gigantic size may be had from this view of its mouth, only partly open.

CENTRAL PENNSYLVANIA OPERATORS PRESENT THEIR CASE TO THE U. S. COAL COMMISSION AT CAPITAL TODAY

Today the Operators Associations of the Central Pennsylvania district filed a 100 page brief with the United States Coal Commission. The brief is signed by Messrs. B. M. Clary, Harry Boulton, A. M. Liveright, Charles O'Neill and W. A. Jones, a committee of operators and attorneys acting for the Associations.

The Central Pennsylvania district employs about 60,000 miners and produces annually 40 to 60 millions of tons of coal. The district is largely unionized.

The brief deals with a large number of subjects now under investigation by the Coal Commission. It sets forth that since April 1st, 1916, two general and 664 local strikes have taken place in this district in violation of contract on the part of the United Mine Workers of America. To eliminate these strikes in the coal industry, the operators recommend:

- (a) Abolition of the check-off;
- (b) Re-establishment of real collective bargaining upon the basis of district or sectional wage agreement;
- (c) Collective and individual legal responsibility upon the members of the United Mine Workers of America for carrying out their contracts;
- (d) Placing wage rates in the mining industry upon a parity with other industries employing the same classes of labor;
- (e) The absolute right to introduce labor saving devices and machinery with interference by the Union;
- (f) The inclusion of arbitration clauses in all wage agreements similar to those contained in the Central Pennsylvania district agreement.

Facts are set forth to prove that collective bargaining has been destroyed by the United Mine Workers of America through their frequent violations of agreement, and to bring about a proper re-establishment of joint relations in the mining industry, the Union and its members must be made legally responsible for carrying out and enforcing wage agreements.

On the matter of overdevelopment, the operators of Central Pennsylvania disagree with the commonly accepted statement that there are 200,000 too many men in the industry. To meet the requirements of the country for coal as demanded, there is not more than 8 to 11 per cent excess development. Likewise, there are only 50,000 too many men in the industry. The operators state that this development in the industry is due to the following causes:

1. The accessibility of coal and the small initial investment required to open a mine
2. During the Great War the United States Government encouraged the opening of all kinds of mines, even to the extent of placing a premium of 75 cents per ton higher price upon the production of wagon coal mines over that paid to regular bona fide tipple mines. The development of these wagon mines constituted one of the greatest nuisances in the industry.
3. The contest between coal carrying railroads for the development of coal fields to insure (a) their fuel supply, and (b) secure the revenues derived from the transportation of large quantities of coal.
4. The uniform and inflexible policy of the United Mine Workers of America in maintaining a fixed wage scale in the union fields for long periods of time in the face of changing conditions allows the non-union coal operators to properly meet changing conditions by adjusting wages as conditions warrant. The result is that the non-union coal fields secure a disproportionately large share of the business during depressions and are able, because of the high production cost to their competitors, to make money on their investments regularly.

The great development of mines in the non-union coal fields of West Virginia synchronizes perfectly with the increase of power of the United Mine Workers of America in the older fields during the past twenty years. The ever increasing capacity of the non-union coal fields in the United States will continue so long as these fields maintain a high earning power for the miner. The premises to be for some years to come. Through the free play of competitive forces, and once the United Mine Workers of America have been made legally responsible for their contracts, the question will adjust itself.

The operators also ask for the abolition of assigned cars. They state that the assignment of open top cars for railroad fuel loaded by carriers and private cars for owners' loading is unjust, inequitable and discriminatory. Also that the abolition of this form of special privilege will do more to stabilize the bituminous mining in-

BACK BROKEN IN PLUNGE OVER STEEP EMBANKMENT ON BARRETT HILL, ROBT. SMILEY OF OSCEOLA IS BADLY HURT

W. G. Plummer Dies Of Injuries Received In Fri. Eve. Car Wreck

W. G. Plummer, of Kelletstown, who was so seriously injured in the automobile wreck which occurred near that town Friday night last, passed away at the Clearfield hospital Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock as a result of those injuries. Mr. Plummer had his neck broken and also received other serious injuries in the smashup. The deceased was employed as electrician by the Maple Run Coal Company. He was about 45 years of age and leaves a widow and five children to mourn the loss of a loving and devoted husband and father. The children are Catherine, who graduated from Clearfield High School last week, Grace, George, William and Fred.

The remains will be taken to Pittsburgh tomorrow and cremated as per request of the deceased when he learned his injuries were fatal.

Locust Alighting on His Arm Caused Twisting of Wheel, Sending Car Down 70 Foot Drop.

FOUR IN THE CAR

Sunday morning about 10 o'clock an automobile driven by Robert Smiley of New Liberty, near Osceola in which were Mrs. Smiley, their daughter and another young woman left the road at the turn on Barrett hill and knocking down two the guard posts along the road plunged down over the bank a distance of sixty or seventy feet to the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks at the foot of the hill.

The Smileys were bringing their daughter to Clearfield for the purpose of having her catch the P. R. & P. train leaving here at 11:48 on her way to Indiana Normal School where she expected to take a summer course. While coming down the hill one of the 17 year locusts so plentiful in that section alighted on Mr. Smiley's left arm. Thinking the insect might bite or sting him he let go the wheel with his right hand and while attempting to brush the locust away the car was diverted from the road and striking and breaching off two of the guard posts, thru which the wire had not yet been strung, and continued down over the steep bank until it finally brought up a tangled mass of wreckage on the railroad track seventy feet below.

Through one of those fortunate circumstances which sometimes attend such an accident the three women luckily escaped with minor cuts and bruises, but Mr. Smiley sustained very serious injuries.

When the car finally landed the women got clear of the wreckage and the two younger ones climbing the bank got back on the road and attracting the attention of passing motorists soon got assistance. Mr. Smiley was taken from the wreck unconscious and conveyed to the Clearfield Hospital in the ambulance of that institution, which had been hastily summoned to the scene.

In addition to numerous cuts and bruises Mr. Smiley suffered serious injury to his back. X-Ray pictures taken at the hospital showing the seventh and eighth dorsal vertebrae to be fractured and his condition is serious.

Clearfield Knights Of Malta Have Enjoyable Visit To Fairview Park

Clearfield Knights of Malta, wives, friends and sweethearts to the number of almost a hundred, were participants in a big Malta event at Fairview Park near Philipsburg last Thursday evening. The occasion was Frenchville Tuesday morning at 11 a sort of district convention and

(Continued on Page Two)

FUNERAL OF LEWIS LEIGEY

The funeral of the late Lewis Leigey, Civil war veteran, who died at the home of his son Jesse, at Hyde on Frenchville Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock.

Do These Triplets Look Alike?

James, Lewis and William Guffey, of McKeesport, Pa., are triplets even if they don't look it. They have gone through school together, have been graduated together and hope to go through the University of Pitt-

(Continued On Page Two)

POWERS RESUME FIGHT TO CONTROL MEDITERRANEAN SEA

Old Apple of Discord Again Being Kicked Around by Continental Rivals—France Enters the Lists

By J. W. T. MASON
(Written for the United Press)

New York, June 16. (United Press)—The Mediterranean Sea, scene of European rivalry for many hundred years, is again looming as a cause of discord among Great Britain, France, Italy and Spain.

Until the German menace in the North Sea distracted attention from the Mediterranean, before the World War, the powers of Europe regarded the waterway between themselves and their North African possessions as their center of naval operation. Now that Germany has been made impotent for at least a generation, the Mediterranean is resuming its old importance as a disturber of diplomatic cordials.

From one end of the Mediterranean to the other, Spain, France, Italy and Great Britain hold African possessions which give them all an interest in the Mediterranean. Italy and France, themselves fronting the European shore of the Mediterranean, consider their claims paramount. But Great Britain holds Gibraltar, which commands the entrance to the sea, and Spain's control of Ceuta, in Africa, directly opposite Gibraltar, gives the Spaniards an influence out of proportion to Spain's real military strength.

Claims of Italy
Italy claims the moral right to be regarded as the Mistress of the Mediterranean, because all of the Italian coastline borders that water, or one of its arms. No other nation is in a like position. Italy's whole naval strength is permanently stationed in the Mediterranean, by reason of Italy's geographical position. This increases the power of the Italian claim. If Italy were wealthy enough her controlling position couldn't be doubted.

But France and Great Britain have the more secure financial hold. Therefore, they count more in the Mediterranean than the actual number of their battleships in that water. The real conflict now proceeding under the surface for domination of the Mediterranean is between France and Great Britain. The French have started the contest by developing a new intimacy with the Sultan of Morocco. France and Spain both have Moroccan spheres of influence. As long as Spain has the greater influence at the Sultan's court, Great Britain is not disturbed. Spain's capacity for any kind of offensive action is strictly limited.

The British Disturbed
But France's growing strength in Morocco is more disturbing to the British. There is always the possibility, Great Britain thinks, that if the French become masters in Moroccan territory they will proceed to challenge Gibraltar's sole guardianship of the Straits, and will themselves erect a counter-Gibraltar on the African side. The French authorities say this disquietude is needless, because Gibraltar would be at the mercy of an aeroplane attack if ever the need arose. That argument, however, is of doubtful force.

The British government will not consent to any change in the present demilitarized status of the African border of the Straits of Gibraltar. France is unwilling to challenge Great Britain on this point for the moment. But, with the successive defeats of Spain in her warfare against the tribesmen in Spanish Morocco, France's prestige is constantly increasing in that neighborhood.

It now appears to be only a question of time when France will be paramount in Morocco. That being so, France will gain increasing prestige throughout the Mediterranean. Then will come negotiations for an Anglo-Italian understanding as a counter-move, to keep the ball rolling.

Clearfield Knights of Malta

(Continued From Page One)

Knights were present from the following commandaries:

Philipsburg No. 88, Osceola Mills, No. 84, Houtzdale No. 90, Clearfield No. 472, from this district, and the following visitors: William P. Kuhn, P. C., of Mt. Olivet, Williamsport and Grand Generalissimo of the Grand Commandery of Pennsylvania; Nelson A. Catkins, Deputy G. G. of No. 563, of Watsontown; Past Commanders W. Earl Delaney and A. Norris, Greenfield of No. 17, Mt. Olivet, and Harry C. Sweely, assistant recorder of No. 17.

Sir Knight Earl L. Hobbs, of No. 84, called the assembly to order and music was rendered by an orchestra under the leadership of Joseph Griest, followed by prayer by Sir Knight Rev. Herbert Glasen.

Grand Generalissimo Kuhn was introduced and bringing the greetings of the Grand Commandery launched into an earnest plea that the commandaries of this district should arouse themselves and uphold the old heritage which have been ours since the seventh century, and we with one another that their commandaries should stand forth as the champions of the Christian faith.

Mrs. Marietta Griest and Vernon Griest delighted everyone with a duet which ended just as the interest of the audience was at its height. After another collection by the orchestra, a playlet entitled "Knights of the Round Table" was given by the members of the Osceola Commandery, and it brought down the curtain. It was a satire upon the initiation of a new member and the different parts were well played and furnished amusement for about 40 minutes.

The announcement was then made that every one was to remain seated and refreshments would be served, and how the sandwiches and coffee were eaten and cake did disappear was a caution. The treat was provided by the members of No. 84.

At a very late hour the Knights separated to go to their homes, feeling that it was one of the best gatherings they had ever held. The next meeting will be held at Philipsburg on the second Thursday in July.

and all did ample justice to a wonderful picnic dinner.

After dinner a short business meeting was held at which were given the yearly reports of all standing committees. These reports gave an idea of the varied activities and the scope of the work carried on by the Woman's Club and were exceedingly interesting.

The meeting adjourned with a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. Leitzinger for her kind hospitality.

"The Hottentot" is well worth traveling miles to see. You only have to go to the Driggs Theatre Wednesday or Thursday.

Cent. Penna. Operators Present Their Case

Continued from Page One

dusty than any other single proposition that the Commission can recommend.

The brief also deals with the history of the district, wage rates, storage of coal, housing and cost of living, open shop mines, intermittency, absenteeism, competition and recommends the industry be granted the right to properly disseminate information concerning prices, production, etc., so that the public may be correctly informed as to the situation at all times.

The association of Central Pennsylvania have co-operated to the fullest extent with the Commission and are willing and desirous of furnishing witnesses in support of the testimony contained in the brief at a public hearing. They state it to be the belief of the operators that a public hearing should be held to consider particularly the question of relations between coal operators, the United Mine Workers of America and the public.

The brief concludes with the statement that "our knowledge and experience of the bituminous mining industry and the result of investigation, as set forth in this brief, lead us to the conclusion that with the recommendations contained herein carried into effect the operation of economic law will adjust all of the evils supposed to exist in the bituminous coal mining industry within a reasonable time."

Try a Progress "Want Ad."

Limbers 'Em Up JOINT-EASE

It's for joint troubles in ankles, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, knuckles or spine—whether rheumatic or not.

It limbers them up, reduces the swelling, chases out the pain and inflammation. No time wasted—when Joint-Ease goes in joint aches, only goes out.

But lately thousands of people have discovered that it's also supremely good for quick relief in lumbago, neuralgia and neuritis. Joint-Ease is a stainless emollient that soaks in almost instantly—A tube 60 cents.

THE JUNE BRIDE AND HER GIFTS

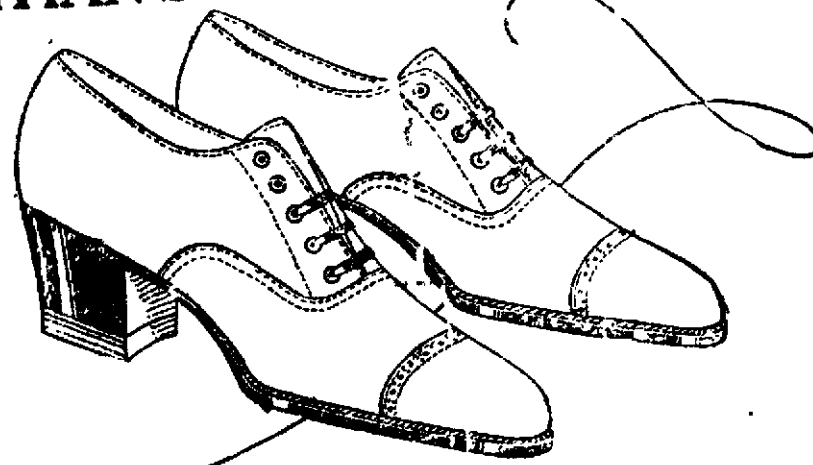

It's an important step in the life of any woman when she becomes a June bride. She dates the rest of her life from that happy day. And it behooves her friends to make her gifts that she will cherish for the rest of her life.

We have just such gifts, whether it is some small item for personal use or some larger gift that she can share with others.

We want you to come in and see these gifts and see how little it will cost to make just the gift you'd like to make.

W. W. O'BRIEN

MENIHAN'S ARCH-AID SHOES

The Fit that Lasts

ANY shoe that must be painfully "broken in" is a shoe that does not fit you. . . . Either the shoe or your foot must adapt itself—with disaster to one or the other.

Menihan's Arch-Aid shoes are famous for fitting feet comfortably, with no loss of style and grace. They gently support the arch, they do not slip at the heel and they retain their shape through a long season of wear.

This smart Oxford is but one of a number of metropolitan styles, in a wide range of sizes and widths.

LYTLE BROS.

—STORES AT—

LEWISTOWN, PA. CLEARFIELD, PA.

FEMINE KNICKERS NO SHOCK AT STATE COLLEGE THREE DAYS

State College, Pa., June 18.—Men's haberdashery shops in State College are preparing for a feminine trade this summer. Ten months of the year they cater to men students of the regular Pennsylvania State College session, but during the summer there are five or six women school teachers to one man at the college, and the three leading shops are forced to change their wares to meet demands.

This town is now unconscious to shock by seeing a pair of feminine knickers promenading the streets, campus, golf course or nearby mountain trails. The co-eds and former summer girl students have braved the storm and knickers are so common that one has to give close inspection to distinguish the female of the species. Three-fourths of the men students wear 'em for their comfort all the time. When the summer session opens on June 25, haberdashers will be prepared for the feminine rush for colorful sports sweaters, knickers, men's shirts, belts, bathing suits and golf hose. Shoe dealers have also laid in a good supply of low-heeled sports shoes.

WOMAN'S CLUB PICNIC

On Friday, June 15th, the Clearfield Woman's Club held its annual picnic on the beautiful lawn of Mrs. A. E. Leitzinger's bungalow.

There were 61 members present.

KEYSTONE ICE CREAM

BEST BY TEST

KEYSTONE ICE CREAM

MAKES A DESSERT THAT IS HARD TO BEAT AND THAT IS LIKED BY YOUNG AND OLD.

CLEARFIELD, PA.

GIFTS for JUNE BRIDES

Come in and see the gifts that we have here for the June bride. First comes the various showers and we have a variety of gifts for these that will be just what you are looking for.

For the great event we have a wonderful array of gifts that any bride will appreciate. To name all the gifts we have would take a page of this paper but if you will take a few minutes and shop through the store, you will be sure to find just what you are looking for.

W. W. O'BRIEN

TAKE THE MILK OFF THE PORCH AS SOON AS IT IS DELIVERED.

These mornings are hard on the milk as the atmosphere is such that it works on the various ingredients and soon turns the milk sour.

We want you to take in your milk as soon as the wagonmen deliver it and put it on ice. This will obviate the possibility of disappointment when you come to use the milk and possibly find it sour.

We put the milk there in the best of condition. Help yourself to keep it so by putting it on ice as soon as possible.

Clearfield Dairy Co.

FRESH STRAWBERRIES

ARRIVING EVERY DAY
They're Getting Better As The Season Advances

Thorn Bros.

Try Progress "Want Ads."

For results try a Want Ad

BRINGING UP FATHER

By McManus

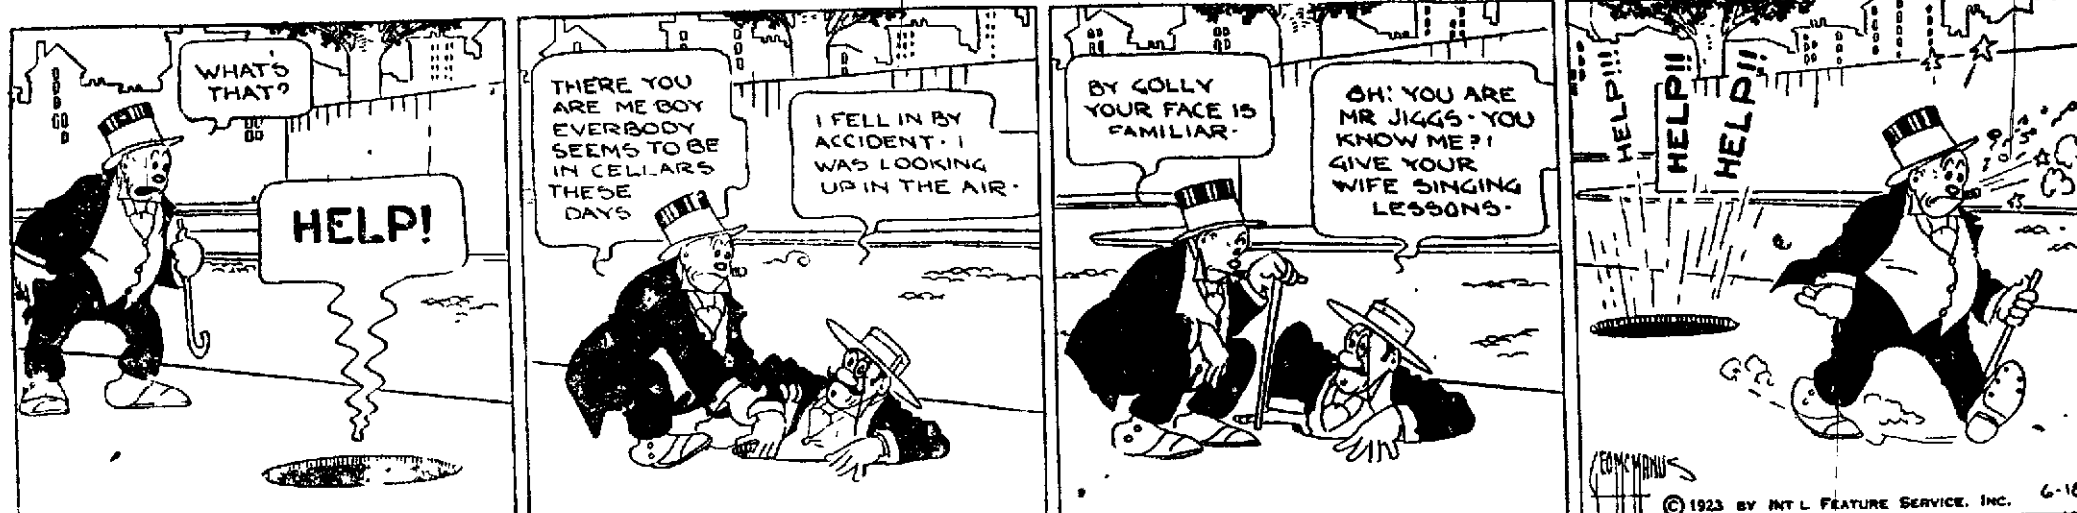

McCarty's

are making Quality Ice Creams, sacrificing profits for quality.

We may not be the largest in size, but then you do not always get the best dinners at the largest houses.

Our sherbets are made direct from real fruit. Lemons and oranges are bought by the box. Strawberry in 5 case lots. Pay some for yourself.

McCarty's
"The House of Quality"

CLASSIFIED ADS FOR EVERYBODY

One Cent Per Word For Each Insertion.
Minimum Charge Twenty-five Cents.

WANTED

If you would learn, the simplest way,
To buy a car—without delay,
Just read my bargains every day—

CLASSIFIED

The Want Ad "Page"

WANTED—Men for street paving work. Good wages. Apply at Borough Bldg. 6/12/23

WANTED—I want to buy a 5, 6 or 7-room house with all conveniences at a reasonable price. Must have possession soon. Address by letter F. B. Progress. 6/12/23

WANTED—Experienced girl for housework and cooking. Must go home nights. No laundry work. Call H. & C. 197B2. 6/16/23

WANTED—Girls at the Clearfield Laundry. 6/29/23

WANTED—Woman to work in restaurant. Apply West Side Restaurant. 6/11/23

WANTED—Young man desires place to board with private family. Address Board, care of Progress. 6/11/23

WANTED—Woman to do plain sewing and mending. Call at once. Mrs. J. C. Forsyth, Turnpike avenue. 6/14/23

WANTED—Girl for general housework. 215 W. Pine street. 6/16/23

WANTED—Salesman with car to sell oil and paint. Full or part time. Liberal commissions. Give references and experience. Farmers Oil and Paint Co., 750 Prospect Ave., Cleveland, O. 6/18/23

WANTED—Two young ladies to travel. Salary and expenses paid. Age 18-23. Apply Miss Burdick, Jordan Hotel, from 4 to 8 p. m. 6/18/23

WANTED—Three young men to travel in car. Age 21 to 23. Apply Mr. Rand, Dimeling Hotel, 7 to 9 p. m. 6/18/23

WANTED—Girl for general housework. Inquire Mrs. Dr. F. S. Neveling, Neveling Bldg., Third street. 6/16/23

WANTED—Position as Ford truck driver. Prefer a job with a contractor. Inquire Progress. 6/15/23

FOR SALE

FOR SALE—Howard player piano. Price $350. Apply Wrigley Addition, on Hillsdale Road. 6/18/23

FOR SALE—Horse, weighs about 1200. Also wagon and harness. Inquire Mrs. Eliza Shaw, West Front street. 6/18/23

FOR SALE—Late cabbage, cauliflower and scarlet sage. J. M. McDowell, 319 Park avenue. 6/18/23

FOR SALE—Complete equipment for 50-barrel buckshot mill. Alice Pugh Sifter system. 25 h. p. gas engine. In good condition. D. H. B. Kitting, Pa. 6/18/23

FOR SALE—50-acre farm located 1 1/2 miles from Woodland. Underlaid with minerals. Has a six room house, good fruit trees, spring water and good cleared land. Can be bought with all the stock. Better known as the Potter Wisor place in Eggs township. Can have possession at any time. Nancy Goodall, Spring Valley, Borgs Township. 6/13/23

Wow! It's Been A Hot One!

And Our Drinks
Have Cooled

Thousands of Throats
Thousands of folks have been here today and gotten that thirst slaked. We have the cooling drinks to
do it and the cooler sundaries will touch a spot that nothing else will.

VIRGINIA
CHOCOLATE SHOP

LEGAL

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of
Clearfield County, Pa.
Ira Clifton Stormer
vs.
Sarah Anne Stormer

No. 5 Sept. Term 1923.

To Sarah Anne Stormer, Respondent.
Whereas, Ira Clifton Stormer your husband has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County praying for a divorce from you to which a return of "not in the County" was made by the Sheriff and an alias writ issued, to which a like return was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923 next, to answer the complaint of the said Ira Clifton Stormer, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE

In the matter of the Estate of Tillie Honke, late of the Township of Morris, Clearfield County, Pennsylvania, deceased.

Letters of Administration having been granted to the undersigned in the above estate, all persons knowing themselves to be indebted to the said estate are requested to make payment, and those having claims to present the same without delay to
LEWIS HONKE, Administrator,
Phillipsburg, Pa.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

M. Ward Fleming, Atty.
Phillipsburg, Pa.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

SHERIFF'S NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pennsylvania.
September Term, 1923.

In the matter of satisfaction of mortgage recorded in Mortgage Book "B," page 120.

To the Legal representatives of James T. Leonard, deceased, or whoever may be the holder of holders of the mortgage hereinbefore mentioned: Take notice that on the 14th day of May, 1923, G. M. Passmore presented his petition averring that he is the owner of the premises described in said mortgage;

That the said mortgage remains unsatisfied upon said premises being a mortgage given by George Passmore to David Whitmer, dated the 30th day of May, 1906, recorded in Mortgage Book "B," page 120; said mortgage having been assigned to James T. Leonard on the 20th day of July, 1905, said assignment recorded in Mortgage Book "B," page 129; that it is averred that said mortgage has been fully paid; that petition was presented to the Court praying for satisfaction of said mortgage.

Notice is hereby given that the Sheriff of Clearfield County was directed to give public notice to all the legal representatives of the said James T. Leonard, deceased, by advertisement in the Clearfield Progress requiring them to appear in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County on the first Monday of September, 1923, being the 3rd day of September, 1923, and answer the facts set forth in said petition.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff.

6/11/18/25 7/2/23

SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SERVICE OF RULE OF EJECTMENT

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pa.
No. 105 Sept. Term, 1923.

In the matter of the Petition of Helen Umerly for a rule on Morris Shannahan and William Shannahan, their heirs or assigns or other parties in interest, to bring ejectment within six months.

Order and Decree. And now June 2nd, 1923, the foregoing petition having been read and considered and presented in Open Court, and after investigations of the same having been taken thereon and due proof of the allegations set forth in the petition having been made to the satisfaction of the Court, a rule is granted upon the said Morris Shannahan and William Shannahan, their heirs or assigns, and all other parties in interest therein and having an apparent interest in or the title of the real estate mentioned in the said petition, but not having been in possession thereof for a period of twenty-one years preceding the date of this application to bring his, her or their action in ejectment within six months from the date of the service of the said rule upon him, her or them or show cause why the same cannot be brought. It is further ordered and decreed that service of said rule be made upon the parties claiming or having apparent interest in or title to the said real estate by the Sheriff of Clearfield County in the Raftsmans Journal and the Clearfield Progress, two newspapers of general circulation printed and published in the County of Clearfield, once a week for six consecutive weeks in accordance with the act of Assembly in such case made and provided. Said rule to be returnable the first Monday of August, 1923.

By the Court, Singleton Bell, P. J.
THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

Too Busy.
"Some people's 'not mitchelly ain't got no time to 'enjoy bein' happy," said Charcoal Eph, rudely, "You keep in 'dwellin' busy fustin' aroun' what ain't none of dey business."—Richmond Times Dispatch

Bedroom Wall Protection.
While visiting a friend I discovered her way of preventing the beds from scratching the walls when moving them. Tacked to the baseboard at the head of each bed was a strip of picture molding a trifle longer than the width of the bed and painted to correspond to the woodwork. The casters rolled against the molding, and there was no danger of injury to the wallpaper.—Washington Post.

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pa.
H. D. Haines
vs.
Emma Haines

No. 7 Sept. Term 1923.

To Emma Haines, Respondent.
Whereas, H. D. Haines your husband has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County praying for a divorce from you to which a return of "not in the County" was made by the Sheriff and an alias writ issued, to which a like return was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923 next, to answer the complaint of the said H. D. Haines, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pa.
Freda M. Bucher
vs.
James M. Bucher

No. 6 Sept. Term 1923.

To James M. Bucher, respondent.
Whereas, Clara May Anderson your wife has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County praying for a divorce from you to which a return of "not in the County" was made by the Sheriff and an alias writ issued, to which a like return was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923 next, to answer the complaint of the said Freda M. Bucher, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pa.
W. M. Smith
vs.
Mary Smith

No. 59 Sept. Term 1923.

To Mary Smith, Respondent.
Whereas, W. M. Smith, your husband has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County praying for a divorce from you to which a return of "not in the County" was made by the Sheriff and an alias writ issued, to which a like return was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923 next, to answer the complaint of the said W. M. Smith, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pa.
Mary Zimmerman
vs.
Edward E. Zimmerman

No. 87 Sept. Term 1923.

To Edward E. Zimmerman, Respondent.

Whereas, Mary Zimmerman, your wife has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County praying for a divorce from you to which a return of "not in the County" was made by the Sheriff and an alias writ issued, to which a like return was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923 next, to answer the complaint of the said Mary Zimmerman, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

DIVORCE NOTICE

In the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County, Pa.
Clara May Anderson
vs.
Carl Elmer Anderson

No. 44 Sept. Term 1923.

To Carl Elmer Anderson, Respondent.
Whereas, Freda M. Bucher your wife has filed a libel in the Court of Common Pleas of Clearfield County praying for a divorce from you to which a return of "not in the County" was made by the Sheriff and an alias writ issued, to which a like return was made, now then therefore you are hereby notified and required to appear in the said Court on or before Monday the 2nd day of July, 1923 next, to answer the complaint of the said Clara May Anderson, and in default of such appearance you will be liable to have a divorce granted in your absence.

THOS. J. LOWELL,
Sheriff, Clearfield County.
Sheriff's Office June 8, 1923.
6/11/18/25 7/2/23

NOTICE OF SPECIAL MEETING OF STOCKHOLDERS

To the Stockholders of Superior Ice Cream Corporation.
You are hereby notified that pursuant to the resolution of the Board of Directors, a special meeting of the stockholders of Superior Ice Cream Corporation will be held on the seventh day of July, 1923, at the principal office of the company at Osceola Mills, Pennsylvania, at two o'clock p. m. The object of said meeting is to act upon a resolution of the Board of Directors, duly adopted on the fourth days of May, 1923, for the increase of the preferred capital stock of the corporation from Twenty-Five Thousand Dollars to Seventy-Five Thousand Dollars, and to vote on the approval or disapproval of the stockholders.

O. E. HILLER,
Secretary.

5/7/14 21/23 6/4/11/18/25/23

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Sometimes the evil men do lives after them while at other times a fellow is given to see the error of his way and repents in time to make amends for his shortcomings.

Manager Peek of the local Bell Telephone Company ran across one of the latter kind of fellows, who lives in a nearby Clearfield county town. When Manager Peek got his mail at noon today he found the following letter the office address and name of the writer being deleted:—

June 15, 1923

Dear Sir:—

As I am living a Christian life, remember when I was a young man I took a piece of wire between the posts along the road, which was broken off and a few glass I broke.

Some people will cover up their sins, but by the help of God I expect to make my wrongs right.

It was worth about seventy-five cents and I enclose money order for same. Want you to forgive me.

Yours truly,

Peek promptly credited the seventy-five cents to the "conscience fund" of the local office after marking it Contribution No. 1 and wrote the conscience-stricken one that he was entirely forgiven.

Depredations of beaver in the Adirondacks region of New York have made necessary a law providing that the Conservation Commission be authorized to regulate the taking of beaver, in traps only, between March 1 and March 31. At one time the beaver was extinct in New York. A few were introduced and these forest rodents have multiplied so rapidly and have cut down so many trees and flooded so much territory that they have rendered valueless many large tracts of forest and farm land.

Guess government operation of railroads wasn't such a bad thing for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company as Gen. Atterbury and a lot of other fellows would have us believe some time ago, judging from the following item which appeared in all the leading newspapers on Saturday last under a Washington date line:—

"An agreement to pay into the federal treasury $90,000,000 has been made by the Pennsylvania Railroad system as the result of final settlement between the railroad and the government of all accounts arising out of the war-time federal control. The Pennsylvania's payment will reimburse the government for the cost of a large number of additions and betterments made to its lines during the period of government control which overbalanced all of the road's claims against the treasury for damages, undermaintenance and other items. This completes the largest adjustment which has been or will be before the railroad administration."

The cost of governing the larger cities of the country has increased from $1,000,000,000 in 1913 to over $3,000,000,000 in this year 1923. This is an estimate, but it is based on the increase in a larger number of cities which have made exact reports on their finances. By similar estimates, the cost of state governments may be figured to have mounted from about $500,000,000 to $1,400,000,000 in the last nine years. For the counties, the figures are about $370,000,000 in 1914 and $1,100,000,000 now; for the small cities and villages about $250,000,000 in 1914 and over $1,000,000,000 now. As a government official has pointed out, these estimates would mean that we Americans had got the cost of government up to fully $10,000,000,000 a year, of which roughly $3,500,000,000 should be charged up to Washington and $6,500,000,000 to the local spenders in the states.

How fast do savings grow? If you deposit $50 without interest monthly over a period of forty years, you will have saved, at the end of the forty-year, $24,000.

Deposit the same amount in a savings bank with interest at 4 per cent over the same period and you will have accumulated $58,131.58.

But invest the same amount at 6 per cent and allow it to accumulate. You will have at the end of the 40-year period a total of $96,408.98 as against the original investment of $24,000. The interest earned would therefore amount to over three times the amount actually invested.

With such inducements, it ought not to be very difficult for you to make up your mind to save for the rewards that are offered. But, under all conditions, first seek the advice of your savings banker before you actually invest.

Here is a table (compiled by Peabody, Houghtaling & Co., Inc.) showing how a $10 deposit monthly, with interest compounded semi-annually, will amount to:

	After 10 years	After 20 years	After 30 years	After 40 years
Total Amount Deposited	$1,200.00	$2,400.00	$3,600.00	$4,800.00
With interest at:
3%	1,387.42	3,256.07	5,772.88	9,162.65
4%	1,457.84	3,624.12	6,843.09	11,626.31
5%	1,532.68	4,044.15	8,159.49	14,902.96
6%	1,612.22	4,524.07	9,783.21	19,281.78
7%	1,696.78	5,073.01	11,791.01	25,158.41

THREE WOMEN ARE SERVING ON JURY TRYING MURDERER

Three Indiana country women are having what is probably the most unique experience of their lives. They are the guests of Indiana county and are spending their days—and nights too—in the Court House. Special rooms have been assigned to them and they are being given personal attention by one of their sex, who is serving in the capacity as a duly sworn in tipstaff. Mention is made of Sadie A. Huston of Green township, Elizabeth Stewart of Cherryhill township, and Sadie Graham of Indiana, who were chosen to sit on the jury hearing the case of the Commonwealth against Tarquino Maset, indicted for the murder of Mike Murray at Dilltown.

The tipstaff is Mrs. Durwiddie of Pine Flats, who was appointed to the position following the decision to admit the names of women to the jury wheel. The three women are greatly interested in the progress of the case. At least two other women called for service this week have seats in the court room and are following the case closely.

Karat Diamond.
A karat, usually called carat, is a unit of weight for precious stones equal to 200 milligrams or 3.086 Troy grains. The value of a carat varies greatly according to the quality and size of the stone. Some diamonds are valued as highly as $1000 a carat, while ordinary good diamonds are worth $100 to $500 a carat.

Young Love's Ending.
I had taken my girl to a box social held in a country school. I told her to leave her box and I would buy it. I bought the box she had described, and on opening it I found it belonged to a sour old maid. I was real angry, especially so when I saw that a nice young fellow had bought my girl's box. Our friendship ended there.—Exchange.

Try a Progress Want Ad.

ANNUAL HEALTH EXAM IS URGED BY DOCTOR MINER

Harrisburg, June 18. (U. P.)—Annual health examinations by every adult person in Pennsylvania was recommended today by Dr. Charles H. Miner, state health commissioner, as a means of living longer and averting disease.

"If every adult person in Pennsylvania would go once a year—on birthdays, for instance—to the family physician for a complete health examination, within a few years the general effect would be so noticeable that the practice would forever continue by common consent," Dr. Miner declared.

He announced that educational efforts to promote annual health examinations would be a part of the program of the State Health Department for the ensuing year.

Concerning prevention of "degenerative diseases" such as brights disease, heart disease, diabetes, cancer, etc., Miner said, "they are not communicable and therefore are beyond the law so far as concerns state control."

He cited figures showing a total of 42,000 persons, mostly adults, who died in 1922 from these diseases, "the majority of whom might not only be alive today but contributing according to their respective abilities to the world's work, if they had sought medical advice in time."

NOON STOCKS

American Loco	137 1/2
Baldwin Loco	127 1/2
Baltimore & Ohio	51 1/4
Crucible Steel	71 1/2
General Motors	14 1/2
Great Northern Ry	7 1/2
Middle States Oil	7 1/2
N. Y. C.	102 1/2
Pennsylvania	44
Sinclair Oil	21
Studebaker	16 1/2
U. S. Steel	31
U. S. Money	4 1/2
Liberty Bonds Closing
Liberty 1st 4 1/2	98 1/2
Liberty 2nd 4 1/2	98 1/2
Liberty 3rd 4 1/2	98 1/2
Liberty 4th 4 1/2	98 1/2

Time Enough.

In Nevada a woman's club with charitable leanings staged a vaudeville show at the "University of Time," as the state penal institution is facetiously called. One of the women had to return to town early, and not wishing to disturb the other entertainers she appealed to the officer in whose charge they had been placed. The latter courteously offered to send her home in his car with a "trustee" as chauffeur. After starting on her homeward journey with the convict the lady regretted her rashness and decided to extricate herself at all costs. "Are you sure you have time to take me all the way to the city?" she nervously began. "Well, madam," the convict answered, "I have five gallons of gas and fourteen years."

Something well worth seeing. "The Hotentot" at the Driggs Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. 6/18/23

FOR SKIN TORTURES

Zemo, the Clean, Antiseptic Liquid, Just What You Need.

Don't worry about Eczema or other skin troubles. You can have a healthy skin by using Zemo ointment, any drug store for 35c, or extra bottle at $1.00.

Zemo generally removes Pimples, Blackheads, Blisters, Eczema and worm and makes the skin clean healthy. Zemo is a clean, penetrating antiseptic liquid. It is easily applied and costs a mere trifle for each application. It is always dependable.

MEN WANTED

by the U. S. Aluminum Co., New Kensington, Pa., for general factory work, men of all ages, from 18 to 50, all nationalities, skilled and unskilled, steady work and good rate, restaurant in connection with factory, open day and night, meals at reasonable cost, assistance in securing rooms, apply the Employment Office, 10th St., or write attention: N. V. B. Zeigler, Personnel Manager.

WANTED

Two active, busy young men for positions as clerk in General Store. Not afraid of work or long hours if necessary. Apply, giving reference and experience. Reply.

Store Clerk, Caro Progress.

For your baby
Soothe baby's moist, easily-chafed skin with Johnson's Baby Powder
Best for Baby—Best for You
Try the Drug Store Test

IF YOU WILL USE OUR TALCUMS—
you will better withstand the heat that is becoming worse and worse every day. We will have the talcum you will like.
Irwin's Drug Store

THE CLEARFIELD PROGRESS

Published every day except Sunday by the Progressive Publishing Company, Progress Building, Clearfield, Pennsylvania.

G. ALBERT STEWART, Managing Editor.
J. D. CONNELLY, City Editor. R. S. NIGHTINGALE, Adv. Mgr.
A. M. BRAUND, Foreman.

OFFICERS

R. H. SOMMERVILLE, President. G. A. STEWART, Sec. and Treas.
H. & C. Telephone No. 176. Bell Phone No. 47

TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION BY MAIL

One Year.....$4.00 Three Months.....$1.50
Six Months.....$3.00 One Month.....$.50

By Carrier 12 cents per Week Payable to Carrier.

Entered in Post Office at Clearfield, Pa. as second class mail matter.

Can we be too ambitious, too willing to assume responsibility and too eager to shoulder the tasks of the community? Emphatically no. It is up to every man to give the best that is in him for his town, his neighborhood. It is a sad state of affairs indeed when men refuse to accept community assignments because of their personal and private affairs demanding all their attention. Rare indeed is the case in which such an answer is excusable; only when the occupation of that man requires that every moment of his time be given to it in order that he may earn a living. The man who shirks civic responsibility and devotes all his time to amassing wealth is doing nothing for others, even his family when he is gone are able to point to nothing but his wealth as the sum total of his life's accomplishment, and wealth today is entirely too unstable to be classed as a monument.

Clearfield today has only a few whose sole right to remembrance will be the contents of their strong box, and it is high time that they be building monuments if they wish their name to be perpetuated. The city has others, equally successful, who are giving of their time, their effort, their energy and their money, and these are truly great.

Ask yourself what you have done for your neighbor and your community and in the answer you will find your fellow's estimate of your worth.

The Central Pennsylvania Operators today present an imposing brief of over one hundred printed pages to the United States Coal Commission. The United Mine Workers present an equally imposing brief, probably of even greater magnitude. What will be the result?

A few people sitting on the Commission who knew little of nothing about coal mining will get some information about one of the greatest of America's industries. They will take the hard and cold facts presented to them, together with the arguments pro and con and attempt, by the application of theoretical principles and cure-alls, to bring about an understanding.

The Commission will make rulings and state findings which will look good in print but be no more effective than a Public Service Commission Order requiring the building of a new N. Y. C. station at Clearfield.

It is not to be expected that this editorial is in the nature of constructive thought. It is sarcasm and we admit it.

Good Evening, Ladies. Here is your editorial today on the upper right hand corner of this page. It is written by Florence Davies and appears each day in The Progress as well as the New York Tribune and the Pittsburgh Post. The subject matter today may not interest you, but if you follow the writings of Florence Davies for a couple of weeks you will find that she writes in a sympathetic vein which reveals a thorough understanding of human nature. The only reason we hesitated to have Florence Davies join our staff was that once she started we knew the women readers would demand her to be present always. Look for the Florence Davies article every evening.

NOW FOR THE HONEYMOON!

THE AMERICAN AUTOMOBILE ABROAD

The American automobile repair purposes aggregates in that period about $300,000,000; the value of automobile tires exported in that period was $180,000,000, and the engines about $30,000,000. A much larger proportion of the machines exported is still doing business in some form than is generally realized, for many of the machines originally sold for passenger purposes are after they have rendered service in the capacity originally intended transformed into a condition in which they can be used for the minor trade traffic and industry purposes, rendering service to enormous numbers of persons engaged in business and mechanical industries, and thus minimizing the time lost by the former traffic methods and to that extent increasing their business facilities. Automobile authorities estimate that more than three-fourths of the motor cars exported in 1913 was used more or less for business purposes. One interesting feature of this compilation prepared for the Trade Record lies in the opportunity which it offers to compare export prices at the present time with those of a decade ago. The number of passenger machines exported in 1913 was 25,880 and the value $25,347,644, an average of practically $1,000 per machine, while the number of passenger machines exported in 1922 was 66,790 and their recorded value on exportation $51,050,000, an average of $764 per machine, while the commercial machines show a corresponding decrease in average value. These figures showing the enormous exportation of motor vehicles are especially interesting at this moment when the latest trade figures show tremendous increases over the corresponding period of last year. Of passenger machines alone, the total exports in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, are, according to official reports of the Government, 62,454 against 23,694 in the same period of last year, and of motor trucks and buses 11,336 against 4,226 in the same months of 1921. One especially interesting feature of the big increase in exports during the current fiscal year occurs in the fact that the large increases are chiefly in movements to European countries and their colonies. Of passenger machines the number sent to the United Kingdom in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, is 4,739 against 979 in the same months of the preceding year. Belgium 4,300 against 987; Denmark 901 against 153; Norway 1,134 against 85; Sweden 1,844 against 475; Spain 2,337 against 226; Australia 10,567 against 3,849, while to the South American countries there are also large increases, to Argentina 2,778 against 486, and to Brazil 1,959 in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, against 236 in the same period of the preceding year.

INCREASED IMPORTATION OF MANUFACTURING MATERIALS

The growing dependence of the manufacturers of the United States upon the foreign world for their raw material is evidenced by the latest figures of our foreign trade. The importation of "crude material for use in manufacturing" will approximate, according to the Trade Record of The National City Bank of New York, a billion and a half dollars in the fiscal year which ends with the current month, against $909,000,000 in the fiscal year 1922, and $1,051,000,000 in the fiscal year 1921. Raw material for manufacturing formed in the 9 months ending with March no less than 39% of the total merchandise entering the country as against 35% in the fiscal year 1922 and 29% in the fiscal year 1921. These figures relate exclusively to crude materials and do not include the group "manufactures for further use in manufacturing," which formed 19% of the imports of the 9 months ending with March as against 15% in 1922 and slightly less than 15% in 1921. Combining these two groups of crude material and manufactures for further use in manufacturing, it appears that material used in the manufacturing industries of the United States formed no less than 58% of the total merchandise entering the country in the 9 months ending with March, 1923, against 50% in 1922. The total value of manufacturing materials, crude or partly manufactured, drawn from abroad in the fiscal year which ends with the current month will exceed $2,000,000,000, the exact figures for the 9 months for which details are now available being, crude material for use in manufacturing $1,070,631,000, and manufactures for further use in manufacturing $929,369,000. The principal items of manufacturing materials entering the country are raw silk, wool, cotton fibers, and rubber, tin, hides, and skins, fur, mineral oil, nickel ore, and copper, while the partly manufactured articles for further use in manufacturing include lumber, vegetable oils, nitrate of soda, wool and cotton yarn, pig tin, and diamonds cut but not set. There is also a limited quantity of iron ore of a class especially suited for mixing with the domestic ore. Tin ore of late has also formed a factor of considerable importance, coming in this form from our neighbor to the south, Bolivia, which exports most of its tin in the form of ore, while other tin producing sections of the world smelt their ore and export it in the form of pigs and bars. A large proportion of the articles which we thus import for use in manufacturing are, it will be observed, tropical or sub-tropical products, and as they are not the result of climatic conditions which exist in the United States, the money sent abroad by our manufacturers for this class of material continues to increase. The total value of crude material imported for use in manufacturing in 1900 was $276,000,000; in 1910 $566,000,000; in the fiscal year 1914, all of which preceded the war, $633,000,000, and will be in the current year, in round terms, one and one-half billion dollars, to say nothing of the more than a half billion dollars worth coming in the partly manufactured form. The whole world, however, adds

Progress Editorial For Women

NOT SO FUNNY

By Florence Davies.
A noted English artist drew some funny pictures not long ago but some people failed to smile.

The artist was the well known Max Beerbohm, whose humorous cartoons have delighted the art world for years. But among this latest group of pictures were some of the King of England and his son, the Prince of Wales.

Artist Beerbohm was only thinking of the King and the Prince as the likable human beings that they are; and because he liked them, he thought it quite permissible to poke a little fun at them. But the English people didn't see it in just that way.

The English people love the royal family, as they have good cause to do. They reverence them and respect them, not at all because the English people labor under the delusion that the Windsors are any more than human, but because, human though they be, this family represents to the English a great ideal.

And so they saw something in a picture of the King and the Prince as unbecomingly making sport of a royal family, even though it was done without malice.

Happily the affair did not cause bitterness, because the artist was quick to explain that no harm was meant. And so what might have been a small tempest, blows over without even rocking the tea table. But it leaves behind as a lesson, one we all find it hard to learn.

The mother of a large family of children, we are all of us just children, for that matter, had a rule which she always taught her boys and girls. It was this:

"Never make a face, which, if taken in earnest, could hurt."

It is surprising how many attempts at humor would be barred out if we observed that rule. But it is equally surprising to learn that there would be more true fun and laughter left than ever.

Bitterness has no place in the bottom of the cup of life. How many heartaches we would save if we would teach our children that. It may seem like a little thing, but it is just this bit, that when one man let his sense of humor add him a lot, a whole nation winced.

Pleasantries which are extravagantly complimentary may be just as amusing as pleasantries which are based on cruel ridicule, and how much more delightful.

There are families whose chief delight is in making fun of some one member.

I know one man who almost hates his wife, because her principal way of showing off is the public rehearsal of his little weaknesses and follies. If she had any fineness she would see the hurt, embarrassed look in his eyes when she utters her quips and jokes. But she only thinks she is being funny. In his heart I believe there have been times when he has been almost a murderer.

People who are wise cannot fight their enemies with tongue lashings and swords. They fight them with ridicule. There is no more potent weapon. Why use it, then, to wound, when only mirth was meant? If Mr. Beerbohm has learned his lesson, can't some of us learn it, along with him?

NEW SCHEDULE ON PENNSY IN EFFECT; ONE STOP HERE

The new schedule of passenger trains Nos. 6402 and 6403, between Tyrone and Clearfield, previously referred to in our columns, becomes effective Monday, June 18th.

The new train will leave Tyrone at 1:05 a. m. with the following schedule: Clearfield, 8:40; Tyrone, 9:00; Philadelphia, 9:15; Blue Ball, 9:25; Wallaceton, 9:35; Woodland, 9:40; Clearfield, (one stop only) 10:00; Clearfield, 10:20; Clearfield, 10:35. Returning it will leave Clearfield at 1 o'clock p. m. with the following schedule: Clearfield, 1:12; Clearfield, (One stop only) 1:25; Woodland, 1:42; Blue Ball, 1:49; Wallaceton, 1:56; Philadelphia, 2:00; Philadelphia, 2:13; Clearfield, 2:22; Clearfield, 2:35; Tyrone, 3:10.

The new schedule in effect today will give the business man about an hour's more time to open his mail and get an answer out on the afternoon mail and should be an advantage to the shopper who is given additional time in Clearfield. Bear in mind that the train arriving here at ten o'clock will not stop at Market street as it has done for years, neither will the early afternoon train leaving Clearfield.

Cork Production.

The tree from which cork is obtained is only fit to be harvested when about twenty-six years old, and this can be done successfully every eight years, the quality improving with the increasing age of the tree.

Subscribe for the Progress

Lord Baltimore Stationery

What pride and satisfaction good stationery gives to the user, and what a favorable impression it makes upon the person to whom your correspondence is addressed!

LORD BALTIMORE is high-quality stationery, yet not expensive.

You may possess LORD BALTIMORE in the beautiful box which is an ornament to any writing table or desk—24 sheets and 24 envelopes. Or you may get the paper economically by the pound—90 sheets—and a separate carton of 50 envelopes to match. Or, if you want it in the most convenient form for vacation or travel use, there is the compact LORD BALTIMORE Portfolio of 50 sheets and 24 envelopes.

LORD BALTIMORE quality will satisfy you and LORD BALTIMORE prices will surprise you.

FINANCIAL HELP

If you have a going business under-financed or a proposed Company of merit, but lack the funds to properly finance it, get in touch with us. We are in a position to furnish unlimited capital, providing your proposition is clean-cut. For appointment write Box 123, care The Progress.

Checking Accounts

A convenience every enterprising business man and modern housewife should enjoy. Are you one of the many satisfied Checking Account patrons we have on our books today? If not, better enlist.

Clearfield National Bank

"The Bank of Personal Service"

Curwensville's Own Column

Roscoe Shaffer, a brother of Percy Shaffer of this place, met with an accident while working in the woods near Kerrmoor, a few days since by which he is likely to lose the sight of the right eye. He was engaged in what is known in woodsmen lore as "bumping knots" when a piece flew from the axe blade and hit him in the eye. He is in the Clearfield Hospital where everything is being done for him in an effort to save the sight.

Cons: Benjamin Chase with several other people visited our town for a few hours on Sunday.

John Kelly and wife who spent last week out in Warren, O., visited with relatives and looking the town over, returned here on Anderson avenue today.

A small child of Mr. and Mrs. Al-man Hickok, who live in a house in rear of the M. Langhin Furniture store, died at an early hour on Saturday morning. Funeral Director Doversville prepared the body for burial. The funeral being held on Sunday, with interment in the Blooming-ton cemetery.

A law suit between several colored ladies came off before J. A. Dale Esq., Saturday evening. According to the testimony hair pulling, biting, scratching, stone throwing and a lot of profanity was indulged in by all parties concerned. The defendant in the mix was held in bail bond for her appearance at county court. The court was crowded with spectators, who were greatly amused at some of the testimony offered in support of defendant's side of the case.

A very pleasing and interesting students' service was held in the Methodist church Sunday morning. In the evening an anti-saloon apostle held the audience by an interesting discourse along the lines of his subject.

In reading over a paper issued to employees by the Pennsylvania railroad company, we find this complimentary notice of a former Curwensville resident: "Harry F. Bell, a passenger conductor, Tyrone, won the admiration of all passengers on his train the other day at Howard, Pa. when he stopped the train and went back and assisted an old lady to get on. Otherwise she would have missed it. Mr. Bell, on July 1st, will complete his thirty-one year service in the passenger service on the Tyrone division with a spotless record."

A number of Curwensville men, accompanied by their families picnicked at the Dilger Rocks and other mountain resorts yesterday. The Dilger Rocks are known from Philadelphia to Erie as an ideal spot for camping parties, some of which remain two weeks at one stretch. You might search a long period before finding such water, scenery and everything that goes with a wilderness camping ground.

Orville King has been walking with the aid of a cane for several days past. He went out horse back riding and the initial stepping into a dip in the road fell over on its side, King falling underneath, bruising and injuring the limb.

Constable Korb arrested a man by name of McNeil Saturday on the charge of operating a car while under the influence of liquor and having a lot of booze in his possession. At a hearing before Equire Dale the evidence against him was sort of remote and after being held for an hour or two was released.

According to a marriage license applied for we notice one from Curwensville, the parties being Richard A. Simpsore, of Tyrone and Miss Jazlie Passarelli, daughter of Henry Passarelli, Filbert street. The marriage ceremony will be performed in St. Timothy's Catholic church on Sunday next, Rev. Father Lynch officiating.

The ladies bible class of the Methodist church announce a picnic to be held on Thursday in the grove at the Pee Wee's nest.

Farmers are complaining that unless a good soaking rain falls within the next few days, the corn crop will be almost a complete failure. The

See "The Hotentot" if you like to see a man who was afraid and knew it, make good. Driggs Theatre Wednesday & Thursday. 6:18-11:15

Commercialites To Hear A Very Able Speaker At Regular Meet Tonight

A couple of years ago it was the writer's privilege to hear an address on investments by Frederick Carles, a bond house of Philadelphia. On that occasion Mr. Carles was the guest of Mr. L. A. McDowell of this city who represents Harper & Turner in this territory, and who invited a number of the patrons of the company to an informal luncheon at the Jordan to meet Mr. Carles. Of course we had no money to invest but knowing of many who did and of how they had invested it unwisely his remarks were indeed interesting. What Mr. Carles does not know about bonds is not much. Recently the Commercial Club entered into a campaign to educate the people of the community to keep away from the get rich quick schemes offered by irresponsible parties. Mr. Carles' visitation here will be right in line with this work and what he will say will be of great benefit to every one who hears him. Every member should be present.

LAWRENCEVILLE HAS

ANOTHER FIRE
Pittsburgh, June 18.—Lawrenceville had another oil fire scare today when dense clouds of smoke began pouring from one of the tanks in the yards of the Atlantic Refining Company. The blaze was soon extinguished.

W. L. Dotloff, general manager of the nickel mill at Hyde, was registered at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York last week.

long drouth has turned the leaves a yellowish color and the stalks are not moving upward as they should but simply standing still. The same can be truthfully said of nearly all of the garden vegetables.

Both the coal and fire clay miners are getting a great deal of unnecessary rest these days. About three days a week is the average for those who follow those hazardous occupations. The coal mines in this neighborhood are not getting cars for shipment while the clay miners claim that the yards are short of labor hence the reluctance of the managers to amass a huge supply ahead of working conditions at the different plants.

Paul Rankin, wife and children drove to Curwensville on Saturday from Purchase Line, Indiana county for a few days with relatives residing in this vicinity.

Children's Day exercises Sunday evening in Grace Lutheran church by the Sunday School pupils was a pleasing and interesting affair, consisting as it did of singing, recitations and reading. The church was handsomely and elaborately decorated which added greatly to the entertainment.

W. H. Robinson, a former resident of Curwensville and Clearfield, died at his home in Pittsburgh Saturday night last. The remains will be brought to Curwensville by automobile on Tuesday and taken to the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. John Fox, where friends may view the remains from 2 to 4 o'clock, after which interment will be made in Oak Hill cemetery.

STRAND THEATRE CURWENSVILLE

MONDAY TUESDAY WEDNESDAY
(Matinee Wednesday Afternoon)

ROBIN HOOD

—starring—
Douglas Fairbanks

Two Shows Each Night

Starting at 6:45 and 9:15

Wednesday Matinee Starts at 2 P. M.

Admission 55c and 25c

Blouses are Still as Sleeveless As the Venus de Milo

Little Lord Fauntleroy would have lost his world-famous aplomb if he could have seen this interpretation of his beloved costume. But perhaps in mourning the lost masculinity he would be gallant enough to admit its delightful feminine qualities.

The round collar becomes so large and protective that it is practically a small cape—and the Fauntleroy tie turns into a sash. The collar, of sheer white chenette, is made in two sections—a band of flat laid pleats next to the neck, which is in turn banded by a circular flare of the same material, piped in blue to match the great ribbon bow which ties the belt and is so characteristically French.

The blouse is as sleeveless as the Venus de Milo, and is rather long waisted. The fullness of the skirt is augmented by shirrings at the hips.

Red dots of unequal size, grouped in clusters and interspersed with dark blue dashes on a lovely blue-gray background, make up the original design of the printed crepe de chine, which is a late example from the atelier of Henri Creange, the designer.

Mrs. Creighton Goes On Trial Today; Lucretia Borgia Alleged Outdone

Newark, N. J., June 18.—Facing charges that represents her as a modern Lucretia Borgia, Mrs. Mary F. Creighton went on trial here today for the alleged murder of her brother by slow poisoning.

A pale nervously smiling woman, Mrs. Creighton looked like anything but the cold blooded murderess, which the State claims her to be. She is accused of having fed arsenic to Charles Raymond Avery, aged eighteen to obtain his life insurance.

Her husband, John, a mild mannered man with a dazed air is charged with the same offense. The prosecution proposes to show that he came under the influence of his wife and was forced to participate in the alleged poison plot.

In addition to young Avery, Mrs. Creighton is suspected of having poisoned her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter G. Creighton. She is under indictment for this. The elder woman's body was exhumed and traces of poison found in it.

THE WEATHER THIS WEEK

Washington, D. C. June 18.—Weather outlook for Period Monday, June 18 to Saturday June 23, 1923, inclusive: Considerable cloudiness with occasional showers. Warmer first half of week; cooler latter half.

Try a Progress "Want Ad"

SCHOOL OF RELIGION OPENS TODAY

The week day school of religion held in St. John's Lutheran church started off this morning with a splendid enrollment. Group No. 1, in charge of Miss Catherine de Gulich, assisted by Mrs. Hauser, had an enrollment of 19; group No. 2 in charge of Miss Edith Johnson, assisted by Arnold Lansberry, had an enrollment of 26, while group No. 3, in charge of the pastor, had an enrollment of 26. This school is open to all children and young people above the age of five. Groups 2 and 3 use notebook. Sessions begin at 8:30.

An Invocation in Literature.
In literature an invocation is an address at the beginning of a poem in which the author calls for the aid of some divinity, particularly of his muse.

BROWN'S 7 STORES BROWN'S 7 STORES

Sale of Women's White Fabric Slippers

$1.98

INCLUDES EVERY PAIR OF WHITE FABRIC STRAP SLIPPERS
IN OUR STOCKS

Military, Baby Louis and Flat Heels

ALSO

White Fabric Sports Oxfords

Black or Brown Trim, Flat Heels

SEE WINDOW DISPLAY

Brown's Boot Shops

CLEARFIELD

Punxsutawney Philipsburg
Salamanca, N. Y.

Indiana

DuBois

HORSE SHOE NEWS

Membership cards for the horse shoe clubs are in the hands of the ward managers and it is hoped to have as much of the ward organization made as possible this week so that schedules can be drawn up and actual pitching started. All the old courts should be conditioned and new ones laid out where needed. It is expected to have a court in the center of town where it will be more easily reached both by players and spectators. The ward managers are as published last week:

1st Ward—John Woods.
2nd ward—Boyd Smith.
3rd Ward—Frank Withers v.
4th Ward—Ray Eddie.

Subscribe for the Progress

500 AND BRIDGE PARTY

The Woman's Club will give a 500 and Bridge party at the Recreation House at the silk mill on Turnpike avenue on Tuesday evening. The proceeds of the affair will go into the street marker fund and every body who can possibly do so should be present. Sewers are especially wanted at this meeting also.

And Just Think---
For $5.00 Down and $2.29 Weekly
You will be a Delighted Owner of a New

AutoMatic
Washer

And if you purchase one before July 31st, we'll furnish you FREE OF CHARGE, with a No. 2 GALVANIZED RINSE TUB.

We even do more than that—we give you an opportunity to do a washing in your own home with this Corrugated Copper Tub AUTOMATIC Washer.

All you have to do is to fill out and mail or bring the FREE TRIAL COUPON below to our store.

But please remember—this FREE TRIAL OFFER and the SPECIAL TERMS indicated above, will be withdrawn July 31, 1923.

The manufacturers of the AUTOMATIC were organized in 1907 for the purpose of building this type of machine, the FIRST of its kind to be sold.

Through all these years their time, money, engineering skill and manufacturing facilities have been devoted to this one style of washer. That's why it is known for its distinctive qualities, and why we have sold it for years and urge you to give it a trial.

FREE TRIAL COUPON To ELECTRIC SUPPLY CO.:

I agree to give the AUTOMATIC Washer a thorough test and operate it according to directions you furnish, and with the distinct understanding I am not obligated in any way whatever.

Signed

Address

This Free Trial Offer Expires July 31, 1923.

Electric Supply Company

Market Street

Clearfield, Pa.

FLOWING GOLD

Copyright 1923 by Rex Beach
 Written by Rex Beach
 Edited by Rex Beach

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Call in Gray employs three men to watch the oil field operations of Colonel Henry Nelson of Dallas, whom Gray hates. Gray loves his daughter, but she loves the oil field. Gus Strikewell strikes oil and Gray helps the family to adapt themselves to a better way of living. Allie, the daughter, adores Gray and to her, the son, is a hero. Gray brings Bud from the oil field for visit to Dawson. Henry Nelson tells Tom Parker that Gray has been honorably discharged from the army. Because Gray loves Allie, his father goes to consult with his friend, Judge Halloran.

NEW GO ON WITH STORY

When they had gone, Gray rose with relief and surprised Buddy by saying: "That's enough for now. Thank goodness! Business is only one side of life, my boy. You are going to make this city your home, so you must begin by meeting the right people, the influential people. Most people in the world right now, Buddy, live in the world of the world."

What was his astonishment, therefore, when after a swift walk Gray turned into a tiny frame insurance office on a side street. Funny place to look for people of influence, Buddy cogitated.

A girl was seated at a desk; she rose at sight of Gray, and her face broke into a smile. Her greeting was warm; her hand lingered in his; for the moment neither of them seemed to remember Buddy's presence. When she did hear his name, however, her face lightened and she turned her head to look at him. "When she smiled at him, as she had smiled at his companion, Buddy dropped his hat. He had never seen anyone in the least like this creature and she knew Allie! She knew his mother! He had missed her name, but probably she owned that Dallas department store, or was the mayor of Wichita Falls. He was under before he was embarrassed."

Mr. Gray certainly was a wonder! His pose, his air of regal dignity, his familiarity with the angel raised him immeasurably in Buddy's esteem. Think of it, chatting, making pretty speeches to an angel! That was going some. The gall of it!

CHAPTER XXVIII

A Bank Changes Hands

TWO callers were waiting Gray when, late that afternoon, he mounted the stairs to his office. Tom Parker and Judge Halloran sat waiting in his formal, awkward greeting sent a quick chill of alarm through him. The two old men were talking, one loudly supplementing the other's efforts to lead up to the object of their visit. Gray turned a set face to Tom Parker, finally, and interrupted by saying:

"Pardon me to ease your embarrassment, sir. You object to my attaching to your daughter. Is that it?" Tom dropped his eyes and mumbled an uncomfortable affirmative. "Not, I hope, because you question the nature of my intentions?"

"On no!" "I'd say yes and no to that," Halloran declared, argumentatively. "Tom and I are gentlemen of the old school; we live by the code and 'Bob' is our joint property, in a way. Any man who aspires to the honor of well, or even paying attentions to that girl must stand the acid test. There must be no blot upon his 'scutcheon'."

"You imply, then, that there is a blot upon mine?"

Tom Parker stirred; irritably he broke out, "I'm damned if I think you did it!"

"Did what?"

Tom remained silent, but when his companion drew a deep, preparatory breath, Gray lifted a hand. He rose nervously and in a changed tone continued:

"Again let me speak for you and to the youth who, for months, has been immersed in the oil fields, Wichita Falls did indeed resemble a city of marvelous progress. Parks, large buildings, bright lights, theaters—Buddy was thrilled. He placed himself for introduction to operators, to men of finance sitting in marble and mahogany offices; he made ready to step forth into the big world.

What was his astonishment, therefore, when after a swift walk Gray turned into a tiny frame insurance office on a side street. Funny place to look for people of influence, Buddy cogitated.

A girl was seated at a desk; she rose at sight of Gray, and her face broke into a smile. Her greeting was warm; her hand lingered in his; for the moment neither of them seemed to remember Buddy's presence. When she did hear his name, however, her face lightened and she turned her head to look at him. "When she smiled at him, as she had smiled at his companion, Buddy dropped his hat. He had never seen anyone in the least like this creature and she knew Allie! She knew his mother! He had missed her name, but probably she owned that Dallas department store, or was the mayor of Wichita Falls. He was under before he was embarrassed."

Mr. Gray certainly was a wonder! His pose, his air of regal dignity, his familiarity with the angel raised him immeasurably in Buddy's esteem. Think of it, chatting, making pretty speeches to an angel! That was going some. The gall of it!

After a while, when the two men were on the street again, Buddy inquired: "Who is that young lady? I mean—her name?"

Gray told him, then, with a friendly twinkle: "Well, speak out! What do you think of her?"

"Oh—oh!" Buddy cried, breathlessly, whereupon his companion laughed in perfect satisfaction.

CHAPTER XXVIII

A Bank Changes Hands

TWO callers were waiting Gray when, late that afternoon, he mounted the stairs to his office. Tom Parker and Judge Halloran sat waiting in his formal, awkward greeting sent a quick chill of alarm through him. The two old men were talking, one loudly supplementing the other's efforts to lead up to the object of their visit. Gray turned a set face to Tom Parker, finally, and interrupted by saying:

"Pardon me to ease your embarrassment, sir. You object to my at-

days, but to the genius and industry of Bell himself had been due its growth into one of the influential institutions of the state. Other banks had finer quarters, but none in this part of the country had a more solid standing nor more powerful names upon its directorate. Bennett Swopes, for instance, was the richest of the big cattle barons; Martin Murphy was known as the Arkansas hardwood king, and Herman Gage owned and operated a chain of department stores. The other two—there were but seven, including Bell and his son—were northern capitalists who took no very active interest in the bank and almost never attended its meetings. For that matter, the three local men above named concerned themselves little with the actual running of the institution. It was the Nelsons, who owned nine-tenths of the stock, were supreme in that sphere. It was only at the annual meetings when directors were re-elected—and invariably they succeeded themselves—that they foregathered to conduct the dull routine business which is a part of all annual meetings.

In spite of the fact that the program this year was as thoroughly cut and dried as usual, the day of the meeting found both father and son decidedly nervous. For there were certain questions of management and of policy which they did not wish to touch upon, and their nervousness manifested itself in an assumption of friendliness and good fellowship quite unusual.

Senator Love, the bank's attorney and secretary, was arranging his minute books, his reports, and his miscellaneous papers. Martin Murphy was telling his latest story, when a knock came at the door to the directors' room. Bell himself answered it, but his protest at the interruption died upon his lips when he beheld Calvin Gray, Gus Strikewell, and the latter's son, Omar, following him.

Gray spoke sharply, and his words fell with the effect of a bomb. At least upon Bell and Henry, for what he said was: "We are attending this meeting as stockholders, and we came early to enable the secretary to record the necessary transfer of our shares."

Disregarding the president's gasp of astonishment, the speaker pushed past him and entered, then introduced himself and his companions to the other men present.

Henry Nelson experienced a sick moment of dizziness; the room grew black before his eyes. It was Bell who broke out, harshly:

"Stockholders? Where did you get any stock in this bank, I'd like to know?"

"We bought it. Picked it up here and there."

"I don't believe it!" Bell glared at the speaker, then he turned his eyes upon Swopes, upon Murphy, upon Gage. "Did any of you sell out?"

"We don't own enough to make it worth while," Swopes said, dryly. Murphy and Gage agreed. Bell's peculiar display of emotion surprised them; they exchanged glances. "I thought there wasn't any stock outside of what's owned by our group."

What's the idea?" Gray answered, easily. "There is now a considerable amount outside of that. A very considerable amount."

Henry Nelson made himself audible for the first time, and answered angrily. "Quite the contrary, Gray, this eleven-hour move. How much have you got? What's your—your object?" In spite of himself his voice shook.

"My object is purely selfish," Gray's tone was equally unpleasant. He had expected to create a sensation, and he was not disappointed. "Mr. Strikewell and his son are looking for a secure investment, and I have convinced them of the soundness of your institution. My operations make it necessary for me to establish a close banking affiliation—one where I can ask for and receive consideration—his mockery was now unmistakable—"so where should I turn, except to my friends? I assume you make no objection to the stock transfer?" Very well. He drew from his pocket a bundle of shares and tossed them across the table to Senator Love.

(Continued in Our Next Issue)

Tom Sims SAYS---

A check for $1,000 makes a great wedding present, but is expensive.

Besides making girls attractive, soft clinging dresses make fine dust rags for mother.

Flies may live as long as five years if not swatted severely.

Bad news from the Balkans. Another war. If we get invited let's say we have nothing to wear.

One thing that worries the girl of today is she will be the girl of yesterday tomorrow.

Too many tired business men work themselves into heart failure trying to avoid business failure.

When making a martini, it is easier to go buy the darn stuff.

The only handicap about a flivver is you never can recognize the thing after it is stolen.

Candlesticks make nice wedding gifts. The big heavy kind are fine for chasing burglars.

Scientists say that 3,000,000 years ago camels roamed America, even where New York is located.

This world could be twice as bad as it is. The seasons on Mars are twice as long as ours.

Atlanta (Ga.) mother of three still goes to college, when she could learn more at home.

The big picture hats, they say, are returning. You remember them, 12 make a street car full.

A dinner dress of black taffeta with an oilcloth apron will do away with napkins entirely.

Painted wicker is used for flower pot baskets. It should be removed before throwing the pot.

EAST END PLAY-

GROUND MEETING

As there is only a week to put the playgrounds in running order, a meeting at the 11th Street M. E. church Tuesday night is very important to accomplish things at that end of town. There was an "unsuccessful" attempt to get together and discuss this one night last week. As it is expected that the supervisor for this playground will be from 4th Ward, it will be still more a matter of community pride to provide the desirable improvements. The meeting is at 7:45 and will decide just what will be done and when. The actual working meeting will need to follow soon to be ready next Monday.

Unwelcome.

Small invalid (as her mother closes the door on the doctor)—Mummy, I don't think I like that gentleman. If he could argue, please tell him that I'm not well enough to see him.—London Punch.

The Only Reason.

"I ain't got no use fo' money," said Charcoal Eph, ruminatively, "ceptin' dis hyar way. Suh, hit sure do lead de way t' co'n beef an' cabbage an' a ton o' coal."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

The man of the house, who brain tired and logy from work in an office chases home on Saturday afternoon to trim the lawn with his neighbor's lawn mower does not feel the expenditure of calories—energy—if the Energy Spread is the Daily Spread for his daily bread.

Nucoa

Senator Betts Will Be Speaker At The Rotary Club Meeting Wednesday

Ever since things began to warm up at Harrisburg it has been the effort of the entertainment committee of the Rotary Club to get State Senator William J. Betts to speak before the club but the press of business in connection with the sessions of the legislature has prevented the genial Senator from accepting the invitations repeatedly extended. Now, however, the sessions are over and Bill has had a few days in which to breathe a sigh of relief and he had promised to be present on Wednesday evening at six o'clock to tell all about it.

In addition to the remarks of Senator Betts, the club has a very important matter to vote upon which should result in every member being present. It will indeed be a busy evening with the session positively limited to one hour and fifteen minutes.

J. LEE OWENS WILL RECEIVE B. C. S. DEGREE

The Duquesne University at Pittsburgh will confer upon J. Lee Owens, son of A. B. Owens, of Bloomington, the Degree of Bachelor of Commercial Science at the annual commencement, June 19, 1923.

Mr. Owens is also a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh, class of 1921.

He was selected by the Dean of the Duquesne University to deliver an oration at the coming commencement entitled "The Value of an Education."

Lee holds a very responsible position with the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, of Pittsburgh.

Where Struggles Naught Avail.

A man was recently carried to a registry office to be married. Most bridegrooms, however, realize that it is best to go quietly.—London Opinion.

Hard to Tell.

"Suttin' people in dis hyar worl' got a clink," said Charcoal Eph, ruminatively, "but de trouble is, brother, yo'll never tell which job's de chink by any man's testimony."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Youthful Chivalry.

A second grade teacher asked her pupils what a coward was. One little boy raised his hand and said: "A coward is a boy who fights girls."

Chinese Bandits Make Raid On Roman Catholic Mission; Capture 500

Rome, June 18.—Chinese bandits surrounded the Roman Catholic Mission in Hankow, China and captured Father Malott, the missionary and 500 Chinese converts, according to cables received here today.

The brigands demand ransom of $1,000,000 threatening to kill the Priest if not paid at once. Pope Pius has cabled Father Lensers at Hankow to do his utmost to effect the release of the captives.

Full of It.

An Englishman has discovered how to make electricity from wind. This being so we know a lot of fellows who are human power plants.

A Model Housekeeper.

A friend of mine claims that it pays any hotel to entertain his wife. She always cleans the room beautifully before she unpacks.—W. S. Atkins, in Louisville Courier-Journal.

Natural Soap.

Chile has a berry that serves as soap and Peru a tree the bark of which can be used for the same purpose.

Bacteria in Ice.

Clear ice taken from polluted water may in some cases contain as low as 1 per cent of the number of bacteria present in the water.

RECORD FOR FINES IS ESTABLISHED BY FRENCH COURT

Dusseldorf, June 18.—The largest fine ever levied against a group of individuals was imposed upon eight German industrialists by a French court martial at Werden.

The defendants, five of whom were not present, were sentenced to five years' imprisonment each and were fined a total of 1,664,000,000,000 (one trillion, six hundred sixty-four billion) marks. This sum is approximately the equivalent of $1,511,250,000.

The charge against the industrialists included refusing to deliver coal by way of reparation, encouraging passive resistance and theft of material in northwestern France during the war.

Hospital Has Many Visitors.

At one of the big hospitals in London as many as 3,000 visitors sometimes arrive to see patients in one day.

Bacteria in Ice.

Clear ice taken from polluted water may in some cases contain as low as 1 per cent of the number of bacteria present in the water.

THE OLD HOME TOWN -- By Stanley

Hundreds Saw And Were Mystified at The The Talking Studebaker

The Wonderful Marvel Talked To Visitors; Answered Their Questions; Explained How It Worked---and Were Astonished.

Come And See It For Yourself
 TONIGHT - TUESDAY - WEDNESDAY
 Estep Bros. Motor Company
 810 Daisy Street; Clearfield, Penna.

PLAYGROUND VOLUNTEERS MEETING

All who feel interested enough in the playground to give an hour or so a week are reminded of the meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 in the Scout home to arrange schedules. This means all of any age for some of the very best and most efficient help last summer came from members of the grammar grades. It also means boys for there are as many boys on the playgrounds as girls who need refereeing of all kinds.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Mather are attending the bakers' convention at Bedford Springs.

Mrs. Zach McNaull, of Curwensville, and Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hummel, and Esther Hull of Clearfield, motored to Reynoldsville and spent the day with Mrs. Arthur Draucker.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Brantner spent the week-end with friends at Rositer.

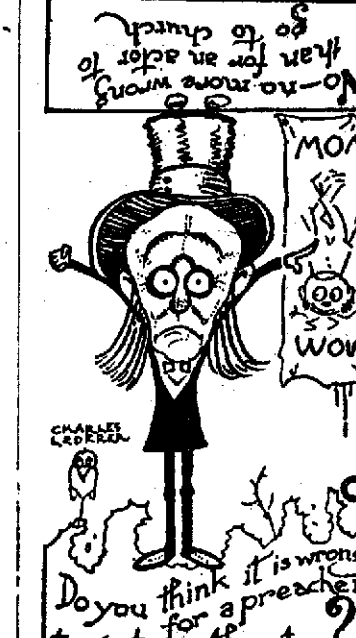

Miss Mary Shade left this morning for Indiana State Normal where she will spend the summer.

The funeral of the late J. W. Shim-el will be held from the residence of W. G. Boyce Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Interment in Mt. Joy cemetery.

Advanced Through Centuries. Seven centuries ago Britain could not clothe herself; today she clothes more than half the world with the produce of her cotton spindles and her wool looms.

TURN ME OVER

"I ain't got no use fo' money," said Charcoal Eph, ruminatively, "ceptin' dis hyar way. Suh, hit sure do lead de way t' co'n beef an' cabbage an' a ton o' coal."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Looks Like a Bull Frog

This is the latest freak in German auto-making. It carries the stream-line effect to the nth degree. Here it is shown being tested on a Berlin track.

Baldwin Cabinet Needs More Ginger

New Political Alignment In England Gives Lloyd George His Chance to Come Back

Baldwin, England's new Prime Minister, will have to ginger up governmental affairs if he is to survive Sir Charles Ross, Bart., owner of "The Outlook" of London, declares in the following article in which he gives a close-up analysis of England's recent cabinet shakeup.

England needs more vigorous administration than Bonar Law. "Tranquility" program gave, and Premier Baldwin will have a harder fight with the English Liberal Party than Bonar Law had to face.—The United Press, New York.

By SIR CHARLES ROSS, Bart. (Copyright, 1923, by United Press) By arrangement with "The Outlook," London.

London, June 18. (United Press)—The deplorable sudden breakdown of Mr. Bonar Law's health excited respectful and universal sympathy, even among opponents.

In some ways, undoubtedly, the Baldwin Government may be stronger than its predecessor. That is not to say much. The shadow of premature death was on the Bonar Law Administration from the hour of its birth.

The shadow of "tranquility" is not precisely the watchword of vigorous health; the strong man wants to do things, to assert himself, to leave his mark on the country. Unless the Baldwin Government proves more vigorous and more alert than its parent, it cannot hope to last its full term and put up a good fight against its Labor and Liberal opponents.

One weakness of the Bonar Law Government was that it had too much to do in the House of Lords, and too little weight of metal in the Commons. Mr. Baldwin may probably think it unwise to reconstruct too much, for his colleagues if not brilliant, are at least capable. The reaction of the new administration on domestic politics will soon be visible. Conservatives will be more confident, simply because they have a leader who is physically in better form than their late chief. Labor is left very much where it was—that is to say, putting its fingers to its nose.

and making unmanly noises. It is the Liberals who will benefit most by the change; for the retirement of Mr. Bonar Law is the final break-up of the Coalition.

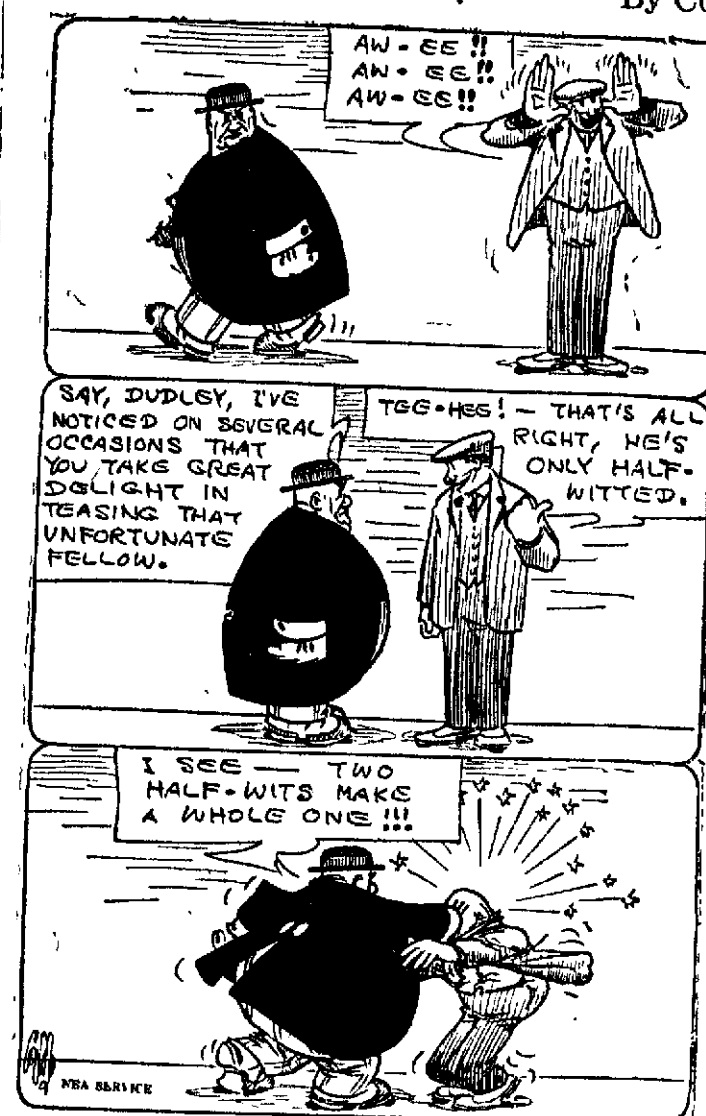

Resume Warfare. The Law-George partnership, although broken off two years ago, had left its marks on the present Parliament; men do not so easily forget their old associations and commitments. But Mr. Baldwin owes nothing to Mr. Lloyd George, and most certainly Mr. George owes nothing to Mr. Baldwin; there is no reason in the world why party warfare should not be resumed.

That consideration itself should help forward Liberal reunion—if only the same twins on the Liberal side would stop their wrangling. The first results of Liberal reunion would probably be that a few National Liberals would discover that they were Conservative at heart, and join the Baldwin banner. That would not really matter; the world discovered it long ago.

Liberal prospects are brightening; they cannot hope for office in the immediate future, but if they will drop their abject personal vendetta they may at least expect to become the alternative Government when the time comes, soon or late, for Mr. Baldwin to resign. Worcestshire is a private citizen, read his books and grow pigs. Liberalism is now the true "Centre Party," and in due course will have to deliver the country from reaction and its "Hard Faces," as well as from the chattering Banderlog of the Clyde.

EVERETT TRUE

By Condr

Patchwork on Children's Frocks

Children's dresses are trimmed with patchwork—not only their dresses, but everything in the nursery is so ornamented. Pillows, wall-borders, lamp shades, bedspreads, curtains and the dresses of the owner are decorated with patchwork nursery stories, animals and flowers.

THERE'S no need for cheerless walls with Acme Quality No-Lustre Finish. Every possibility for the most artistic wall decoration can be realized with it. Has the beauty of water color, soft pleasing tones and rich colors—yet many advantages of an oil paint—sanitary, permanent, easily maintained. Color samples for your inspection.

For the finest enameling in White or Ivory—Acme Quality Cabinet Enamel

Wm. F. Powell

South Second Street

Clearfield, Pa.

Lester And Rowles Out Of Line-up For Game At DuBois Tomorrow P. M.

The following men will probably accompany the team to DuBois tomorrow:

McCloskey, left field.
Mahaffie, third base.
Robinson, short stop.
Rowles, right field.
Townsend, first base.
Flegal, center field.
Peterson, second base.

Fauver or Bowles will pitch. Heberling and Mitchell, infield. Rowles, outfield. Cowdrick, pitcher. "Sluggers" Rowles has developed a new arm and will be given a lay off until Thursday's game. Sluggers' arm was sore when we played DuBois for he asked to be relieved then. Flegal will take Rowles' place in the outfield.

Peterson will be given a chance to show his stuff at DuBois. Manager Pierce is giving all the boys a chance to make good and should be complimented on giving a chance to the ones who have been working so hard.

All the men will be measured for new uniforms tonight. Watch them when they appear on the 4th.

Anybody wishing to take a car load to DuBois Tuesday get in touch with Wm. Pierce at the Y. M. C. A.

SUIT IS ENTERED

Suit was entered in Prothonotary Nelson's office this morning by W. Wallace Smith, Esq., representing the Hadfield Penfield Steel Company, which concern is seeking to recover on a note for $2,200 given by the Beccaria-Clearfield Coal Co. on May 19, 1922, and which bore the endorsement of L. Montel.

BENNY KYTE AND HIS ORCHESTRA

Detroit's Most Popular Orchestra

WILL PLAY AT

FAIRVIEW PARK
Oscola Mills, Pa.

Tuesday, June 19th.

32 Weeks

BLOSSOM HEATH INN

45 Minutes from Woodward

(Not Broadway)

Detroit's Finest and Most Popular Road House

16 Weeks

PONTCHARTRAIN ON THE LAKE

Detroit's Most Exclusive Road House on Lake Shore Drive

Subscription $2.00

Extra Ladies 25c

DOINGS OF THE DUFFS

Inside Dope

By Allman

IMPORTANT NOTICE

Unless we have copious rains very soon, all newly planted shade trees should be thoroughly watered at least twice a week. This applies equally to trees set out last year for trees are very much like babies and widowers, hard to get them over the second summer, they need attention, water and cultivation. Shade Tree Commission. 6/18/23/ch

STREET MARKERS HERE

The street markers secured by and thru the efforts of the Woman's Club have arrived and are now ready to be put up. The Woman's Club are to be congratulated upon their success with this public-spirited move. Clearfield streets have never been marked and it is a hard proposition for the stranger within our gates to get about with any degree of satisfaction and it was to remedy this condition that the Woman's Club got busy.

It will be necessary to place many of the street markers on private residences and property owners should and no doubt will co-operate with the Woman's Club by allowing the markers to be placed on their properties where the same is necessary.

DRIGGS THEATRE TONIGHT

She wrote herself love letters because no one else would.

Because she never had a man she spread scandals about herself.

And when her heart would not bear anymore pain she had to live her romance.

Marshall Neilan Presents

"MINNIE"

—with—

LEATRICE JOY and MATT MOORE

—A FIRST NATIONAL ATTRACTION—

Chuckle—Cheer—Choke.

Truly—a LIVING Picture!

LIBERTY THEATRE TONIGHT

PROGRESS PICTURES CORPORATION

present

ROY STEWART

and

KATHLEEN KIRKMAN

—in—

Innocent Cheat

SEND IN YOUR RED ENVELOPE NOW

Round Dance

SECOND WARD HOSE HOUSE

TUESDAY, JUNE 19TH.

Couples 75c

Extra Ladies 25c

6/18/23

19

FOR ENJOYMENT THIS WEEK COME HERE TUESDAY EVENING A DANCE

Al. Rockwell and his orchestra
—Wednesday Evening—
An Old Time Square Dance
—Thursday Evening—
A Good Dinner
(5:40 to 7:00)
THE ORCHESTRA WILL BE HERE.

JORDAN'S
P. S.—Be Sure and Look Up This
Space Each Day

WELL KNOWN O'SHANTER RESIDENT DIES

Hugh Collins, one of the best known residents of the O'Shanter section, died at his home on Thursday, June 14 1923. The deceased was born in Hollytown, Scotland, Feb. 18, 1858, and was therefore aged 65 years, 3 months and 26 days. He came to O'Shanter many years ago. He was an industrious, upright man who enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew him. He was a lifelong member of the Presbyterian church, being affiliated with the church of that denomination at Glen Richey.

He is survived by the following sons and daughters: Thomas and Samuel of Commodore, Pa.; Mrs. John Weir, Hugh, Robert, William and Alexander, of O'Shanter; James, of Ridgway, Pa.; George, of Cleveland, Ohio, and Agnes, at home. Two brothers, George, of Niagara Falls, and Alexander, of Burnside, also survive.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. E. C. Reeve, of the Clearfield Presbyterian church, officiating.

Maine Coast.

Sparkling blue water, Christmas-tree shores, great gray boulders, leaping white surf, island after island. Justing rocks, crowned with little white lighthouses, green, sunny glades with summer homes amid sheltering pines; long, low rounded hills and cattle against the sky line. Thriving towns, sleepy villages, picturesque landing places. In summer happy pleasure seekers strolling on shore, speeding in motor boats, flitting by in sail boats. In winter, glitter of ice and snow, weather-beaten, softly-tinted fishing smacks; shrewd, wrinkled, weather-seasoned fishermen. Summer and winter, green of spruce and pine, tang of crisp balsam air.—Christian Science Monitor.

Trinitrotoluene.

"T. N. T." is an abbreviation for trinitro-toluene, a very powerful explosive used in shells, mines, hand grenades and torpedoes. It is formed from toluene by treatment of this hydrocarbon with strong nitric acid in the presence of concentrated sulphuric acid. Toluene is one of the products of the distillation of coal tar. T. N. T. crystallizes in almost white needles, and at ordinary temperatures it is quite stable; it burns with a smoky flame when heated. In its chemical composition the molecule of trinitro-toluene is made up of an atom of carbon, seven of hydrogen, five of nitrogen and three of oxygen.

Phosphorus are found in the Malay peninsula and in these seas for centuries. These phosphates are probably as old as any people in the world under their own hands. They are found in the soil and in the water. A few hundred years ago scattered through the possession of one of the kings of the world. To be sure, a knife is a

Knowledge and Understanding. The improvement of the understanding is for two ends: First, our own increase of knowledge; secondly, to enable us to deliver and make out that knowledge to others.—Locke

Are you afraid of horses? Then you will appreciate "The Hottentot" at the Driggs Wednesday and Thursday. 6/18/18

Rubber Bathing Caps

Protect your hair when you go swimming with one of these bathing caps of rubber. There are the plain tightly fitting ones or there are the ones with more or less frills. Plenty of colors so that you may match your bathing suit.

STEWART'S DRUG STORE
CLEARFIELD, PA.

HORSESHOES TONIGHT

The three final games between Flint and Smith will be pitched this evening at 7 o'clock at Fourth and Reed streets. They are the now, three games each, and the games this evening promise to be good ones.

Woodcuts.

The art of wood engraving is very old. When it was rare to find a prince who could write, little woodcuts for attesting documents were in use in Europe. But before that the Chinese had invented the art. In modern times the woodcut has been submerged beneath other methods of reproducing drawings and photographs, but the art is now being kept delightfully alive by the Society of Wood Engravers of London.

Woman told, never

The first woman to talk in telephone is said to have been Mrs. E. G. Seymour. In 1874 when Alexander Graham Bell was making his first experiments with the telephone at Brantford, Ont., Mrs. Seymour was teaching school in that place and helped the inventor string the wire and set up his telephone instruments.

Try a Progress "Want Ad"

Summer Blouses

Overblouses, in some tailored style are most in demand for summer wear. They are light and airy, and are popular for their ease and comfort. English is a popular and modern choice in colors. Blouses are some of the most needed items.

LET US FILL YOUR COAL
BIN NOW FOR NEXT
WINTER

You'll save money and be sure of the coal.

Krebs Bros. Drayage Co.

Both Phones.

C. R. Dixon
GENERAL HAULING

Local and Long Distance

H. & C. 225-J-3.

107 South Fourth Street

Gossip For Tonight's Tea Table

Miss Lola Shirey came from Wilkes-Barre to spend the week end with her parents here.

Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, of Corwensville, entertained at Bridge on Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Wright and Mrs. William H. Patterson of Clearfield, were among the guests.

Cecil Wilson and Philip Reed attended the reunion of their classes at Princeton last week.

W. C. Miller left today for Harrisburg and will spend several days at Northumberland visiting his daughter, Mrs. W. W. Van Allen.

Mrs. Annie Dori, Mrs. Carrie McCaughey, Miss DeL. H. McCordell and Miss M. Cardell of Brantford, motored to Philadelphia today and will spend ten days or two weeks.

Virginia Cristoff of Oseola, visited her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Malloy over the week end.

Mrs. Ernest Riddinger returned to her home in Philadelphia, after a visit with friends here.

Miss Anna Bratton has returned to Jefferson Hospital, Phila., where she is in training, having spent a vacation with her mother, Mrs. Ethel Bratton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Qualey, of Oswego, who have been visiting at the home of W. C. Miller, left today for Northumberland and other points where they will visit before returning home.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leonard, of West Hickory, spent the week end in town.

Richard George and Walter Stewart, of Winburne, attended the Masonic dinner on Friday.

J. Frank Powell, of Clarion, was a visitor on Saturday.

Colonel Markham was a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Kerr.

Arthur Rowles, of Pike township, transacted business here on Saturday.

Harry E. Wagner, of Ramey, was a visitor on Saturday.

Philipsburg Masons, who attended the dinner on Friday were: W. B. Brown, Rev. J. I. Scott, Mr. Ward Fleming, S. H. Wigton, A. H. Duncan, H. C. McClure and J. H. Eskridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Koffman, of Pittsburgh visited friends here last week.

Miss Virginia Miller of Tyrone, is the house guest of Miss Anne Waterworth.

Miss Jean Hay, Miss Shields and Miss Michaels, of Philipsburg, spent Friday in town.

A number of friends of Robert Kennedy gave a party in his honor at the country club in Harrisburg. Miss Miller and Miss Stine were out of town guests.

Miss Dolly Stine of Morrisdale is visiting Miss Julia Wallace.

Harold Boulton has returned from Yale to spend the summer vacation.

James Childs, a classmate of Harold Boulton at Yale University, is spending several days at the latter's home.

E. H. Van Horn and J. P. Zeigler, of Falls Creek, spent Saturday in town.

Milton Mays, of Olanta, was a visitor here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Noe of Huntingdon, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. John Forsyth.

Mrs. M. L. Haines and daughter, Martha, of Bellefonte, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Black.

Mrs. C. W. Rauch, of Philadelphia, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kratzer.

Miss Della Owens, of Philadelphia is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Owens, of Mt. Joy. Miss Owens is training to be a nurse at Jefferson Hospital.

B. M. Clark, of Indiana, transacted business here on Saturday.

Hugh M. Irwin, Ralph F. Hess, George Berner, Fred P. Robinson, Al McNaull, Miles R. Porter, Crosby F. Hayes of Curwensville, attended the Masonic dinner on Friday evening.

E. J. Goodyear of Winburne, was a visitor on Saturday.

Luther M. Lindemuth, of State College spent the week end with friends here.

William Nichols, Principal of the 3rd ward school, has returned to his home in Wilkes Barre.

Hummel Fishburn, of State College is spending several days at the home of Kirk Hill.

Miss Betty Butts of DuBois, is spending the week end with Miss Graft.

W. L. Burchfield, of Philipsburg, spent Friday in town.

Little Misses Jean and Louise Hile are spending a week or two at Glen Campbell.

Robert B. Blakeslee and M. F. Ginter, of DuBois, transacted business in Clearfield on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Zimmerman and niece, Mrs. Porta of Altoona, and Joseph Campbell of Perlick, Juniata county, spent Sunday with the former's brother, H. H. Zimmerman on Nichols street.

Why Do We Live?

Some of the inhabitants of the remote parts of central China have the idea that the greater the number of religious beliefs they profess the more certain are their chances in the next world. Members of the London Missionary society, who addressed a series of questions to the working-class population in these districts, received many original opinions as to the purpose of life. Some described it as "to enjoy wealth and happiness, and to make a living." Many others stated that it was a matter of preparing for the next world, and to "give glory to one's ancestors," while one man declared that the chief object of existence was "to dodge pain."

"My Rheumatism is gone—"

"THERE are thousands of you men and women, just like I once was—slaves to rheumatism, muscle pains, joint pains, and horrible stiffness. I had the wrong idea about rheumatism for years. I didn't realize that increasing blood-cells had the effect of completely knocking out rheumatic impurities from the system. That is why I began using S. S. S. Today I have the strength I used to have years ago! I don't use my crutches any more." S. S. S. makes people talk about themselves the way it builds up their strength. Start S. S. S. today for that rheumatism. You'll feel the difference shortly.

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

S.S.S. The World's Best
Blood Medicine

TRY
PROGRESS
WANT ADDS

Give The Week-End Guest a Treat

It's the easiest thing in the world to make your own ices and ice creams—and they always taste so much better than those "manufactured."

Buy an—

Auto Vaccum Freezer

No crank to turn.

No effort to make the ices.

No parts to get out of order.

TWO QUART SIZE PRICED AT $5.50
Come in and let us tell you about them.

THE GREAT WHITE SALES

CONTINUE ALL THIS WEEK

Here is your opportunity to save on White Goods.

A. W. LEONARDSON CO.

THE MAKE OF TRUCK MAKES NO DIFFERENCE HERE—WE SERVICE THEM ALL

Whatever kind of truck you have, you will find that we can service it here. We know a lot about them all and we know where to look for what trouble that might crop up.

So, whatever make you own, bring it here for better service.

TRUCK REPAIR SHOP

Rear 219 Cherry Street

Clearfield, Pa.

CONCRETE BLOCKS

Made on latest Hobb's machine. Tamped by the Anchor power tamper. The tamper that tamps and tamps right. We are now in position to make prompt deliveries. Quality first class. Prices right.

Tate & Copklin

601 Nichols Street.
One Square Above Turnpike Avenue.
Call H. A. Tate.
H. & C. 226-W-2.

Cold Creams

For Sunburn

If your week-end trip gave you a coat of sunburn, cold cream is the thing that will give you the greatest relief. We have one that will soothe the burn and give you rest.

Aughinbaugh's DRUG STORE

Subscribe for the Progress

Foot Troubles Need No Longer Sap Your Nerveous Energy

The pain of those poor, aching feet—how you long to get rid of it! For not only is the constant irritation distressing, but, as physicians well know, it saps your nervous energy, too. From June 16th to 23rd is your chance to get genuine foot comfort. For this week is Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week, when a concentrated drive is made on foot troubles of every description.

Your foot troubles may be the result of overstrained or broken down arches. When this condition develops danger signals such as corns, callouses, bunions, crooked toes, painful heels, weak ankles, rheumatic-like pains in feet and legs and that tired-out feeling after the slightest exercise or exertion soon make their appearance.

But thanks to Dr. Wm. M. Scholl, the well-known foot authority, all this suffering is needless, for he has perfected a special Foot Comfort Appliance or Remedy for every foot trouble.

Our store is headquarters for the foot comfort service which Dr. Scholl has so scientifically worked out. We have a Foot Comfort Demonstrator always in attendance whose services are absolutely free. He is an expert on shoe fitting and can undoubtedly be of immense service to you in solving your foot and shoe troubles.

Make Dr. Scholl's Foot Comfort Week a memorable occasion by knowing, once again, the value of comfortable, easy, efficient feet.

ROSS & WOODS
GENERAL MERCHANDISE

You Expect It of Us!

One is not surprised to learn that we carry a complete range of styles and models of "Quality Beyond Question" Shur-on eyeglasses and spectacles. It is expected of us, as it is thoroughly in keeping with the character which individualizes our establishment. High grade optical service and high grade optical goods, naturally go hand in hand.

John W. Cleary

Optical Specialist
Corner Third & Market Sts.